TERROR WAVE GROWING IN NAZILAND

TOBRUK ARMY EXPECTS HELP FROM CONVOY

FIERCE AXIS DRIVE IS REPULSED BY BRITISH

BY FRANK L. MARTIN

Cairo, June 17. (AP)—Depletion of British tank strength—principally the 28-ton Michigan-made "General Grant" tanks—was the principal factor in today's smashing Nazi tank assaults with superior forces southeast of Tobruk, in an ineffectual attempt to isolate that Stalwart British seaport garrison from additional land supplies.

British defenders of the eighth army were buoyed up in the hope that a much-battered convoy from the east, which fought off an axis naval assault several days ago, will land armament supplies at Tobruk, including new tanks needed for counter-attack before axis columns can press their present advantage to the limit.

No Match For Germans

The Michigan - made British tanks were the bulwark of the defending forces' strength, but weeks of day and night action had depleted this battle arm. Reserve tanks now in action are no match for the heavy "Mark Fours" of the German African corps.

With RAF fighter - bombers alone destroying ten of thirty German tanks thrusting toward Sidi Rezegh, 25 miles southeast of Tobruk, the eighth army's command announced the first attack had been broken up.

The British forces at Acroma, 20 miles southwest of Tobruk, repulsed another axis attack, and today the imperial forces still were holding all the important fixed positions in a semi-circle west, south and southeast of the Tobruk perimeter. Their line was anchored on the west at Acroma, dipped southward through El Adem and veered east to Sidi Rezegh, which is but 50 miles from the Egyptian border.

Supply Line Threatened

Reinforced axis forces massed about El Adem, however, apparently taking on ammunition and supplies for another jab eastward. This force, it was conceded, presented a serious threat to the British land communications with Tobruk. There already was new fighting of a fierce nature between tanks and motorized infantry between El Adem and Sidi Rezegh.

All British forces from west of Acroma now have been withdrawn.

(German and Italian communiques, insisting the axis forces had trapped most if the imperial garrison at Ain El Gazala, fortified point west of Acroma, said British prisoners totaled more than 6,000 and that 224 tanks, 35 guns and more than 500 trucks had been captured. The axis also claimed the capture of some British positions at Acroma and El Adem).

Port Moresby Loss Light In Jap Raid

Allied Headquarters, Australia, Thursday, June 18 (AP)—Eighteen Japanese bombers attacked the Port Moresby harbor area in New Guinea yesterday but caused very little damage, the allied communique said today. The Japanese bombers were escorted by a group of nine zero fighters.

Allied interceptor planes met the attacking Japanese and shot down one bomber and one fighter, the communique said. Casualties in the raid were "slight," it was reported, and no allied planes were lost.

The communique said that in the air fighting over Port Moresby reported in yesterday's communique seven enemy aircraft were destroyed, and not four as previously reported.

Republican Solons Go Into Huddle Saturday Down At Traverse City

Lansing, June 17, (AP)—Republican members of the state senate will meet at Traverse City Saturday. While they described the gathering officially as "just a little get-together," there was speculation it might have political significance.

Nothing in the invitations sent to the senators and Republican elective officials indicated it would be other than a "good time" meeting with Senator James P. Milliken of Traverse City as the host.

But some senators said it would be "logical" to suspect that there would be at least discussion of an effort to pick a single out-state aspirant to oppose Dr. Eugene C. Keyes of Detroit for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor.

Thomas Read of Shelby, who has been both lieutenant governor and attorney general; Senators D. Hale Brake of Stanton and Don Vanderwerp of Fremont, and Rep. Howard Nugent of Bad Axe have been mentioned as likely aspirants for the nomination. There were hints a plan would be discussed to have all but one withdraw, and the others support him.

It was understood neither Nugent nor Read was invited, which some sources took as indication that the meeting would be devoted only to "spade work" on an agreement, or to solidifying ranks behind one of the senators as a means of discouraging others from getting into the race.

Both Vanderwerp and Nugent have been described as willing to join a movement to restrict the out-state lieutenant governor field to one, but Read has not indicated interest in the plans. Friends of Nugent said he might withdraw.

Vanderwerp told newsmen he expected the Republican party would go into the general election campaign with Detroit men as its nominees for governor and U. S. senator, and that he felt out-state counties were "entitled to a lieutenant governor from the other side of the state."

Harry F. Kelly, of Detroit, secretary of state, is the only Republican aspirant for governor now in the field. Republicans have sought to induce Detroit's Mayor Edward J. Jeffries or Circuit Judge Homer Ferguson of grand jury fame to run on their ticket for U. S. senator.

Kelly said he would not attend the Traverse City meeting and that he wanted it understood the gathering was not his idea. He has said repeatedly he would not back or oppose primary election aspirants.

LIQUOR CONTROL HEARINGS SHIFT

Commissioner Dotsch to Visit Upper Peninsula Next Week

Lansing, June 17 (AP)—The smaller towns of Michigan will be sites of violations hearings by the state liquor control commission, it was announced today, as a step toward better law enforcement.

Commissioner Felix H. H. Flynn explained "when the present commission started out we found we were losing some cases because the witnesses would not travel long distances to Lansing and we didn't have the power to subpoena them.

"We think if we go to the towns where these violations occurred, the local officials will have greater success in bringing in the witnesses."

He said the commission also believed fresher testimony and speedier hearings would result, and that out-state residents would learn more of the commission's enforcement program.

He said he would hold hearings Thursday at Stanton and Friday at Bellaire, towns smaller than any in which hearings previously have been held. Also, Commissioner James D. Dotsch will hear cases at Escanaba Thursday, Gladstone Friday and at Sault St. Marie Saturday.

HERDSMAN NAMED

Ionia, Mich., June 17 (AP)—Appointment of W. C. Armstrong, Hillsdale county farmer, as chief herdsman at the Michigan state reformatory was announced today by Warden Joel R. Moore. Armstrong succeeds Lieut. Russell Miller, herdsman for the last ten years, who was called into the armed service.

Canadians Helping U. S. Units In Alaska

Victoria, June 17, (AP)—Royal Canadian air force squadrons and anti-aircraft units of the Canadian army have been operating for some days with the United States forces in Alaska, Lt.-Gen. Kenneth Stuart, chief of the Canadian general staff, said today.

General Stuart, who arrived yesterday to take over temporarily as commander of the Pacific command, said he had been authorized by Defense Minister J. L. Ralston to make the statement.

This was the first time Canadian forces had been known to take part in any operations with the United States army.

U. S. PILOTS HIT ITALIANS WITH 35 BULLSEYES

TWO BATTLESHIPS HAMMERED BY AMERICANS

BY DREW MIDDLETON

London, June 17, (AP)—Newly-graduated United States army airmen, led by a Hoosier veteran of the commercial airways, scored 35 bullseye bomb hits on two Italian battleships as a major contribution to the American and RAF aerial exploits which enabled convoys to run the Mediterranean gantlet to Tobruk and Malta this week, it was disclosed today.

In this first America air operation in the Mediterranean war, the four-motored Consolidated Liberators coasted down with the sun at their backs so quietly that the Italians did not know they were there until the bombs were neatly dropped.

Help Sink Warships

The Americans also contributed with the RAF to sinking a 10,000 ton Italian cruiser and two destroyers and damaging two cruisers and two destroyers, British accounts showed.

For good measure, the RAF announced that its torpedo planes followed up Monday morning's defeat of the heavy Italian naval squadron by penetrating a smoke screen and torpedoing one of the wounded battleships Monday night as the thwarted Fascists fled back toward their home base.

The Italian navy never got into contact with the Tobruk-bound convoy which had been its objective, reliable London sources said.

With 20 bomb hits on one battleship and 15 on the other, plus a torpedo wound in one, experts said the two would be laid up at least four or five months for repairs.

Convoy Loss Heavy

It was officially stated in London that both convoys got through with needed supplies but the cost was conceded to be "considerable," because of violent German and Italian air attacks.

No tabulation of convoy losses was given, but one source said it was believed that the British lost no warship larger than a destroyer and that four merchant ships were sunk or damaged.

The combined German-Italian claims in the four-day running fight added up to 53 ships sunk or damaged—a figure that the British admiralty scornfully dismissed as "fantastic."

Besides the axis naval losses, the RAF announced that 14 axis planes were shot down at sea on Monday alone and many others probably never reached their bases so badly were they hit.

The convoy which reached Malta and which apparently suffered the heaviest of the axis attacks) was shepherded the final 300 miles by relays of RAF fighters which sallied out from Malta continuously from Sunday night until the convoy arrival Monday night.

Nothing was said in London to confirm speculation that United States warships might have been in the convoys. The Consolidated Liberators were the only Ameri-

ORE SHIPMENT STUDY STARTED

Governor Names Special Committee On Traffic Through Escanaba

Lansing, June 17 (AP)—Governor Van Wagoner today created a special committee of the state defense council to study the problem of war-time transportation of upper peninsula and Minnesota minerals by water to Lake Michigan ports.

The governor has assurance of Joseph B. Eastman, director of defense transportation, that he is studying Van Wagoner's request for federal aid in establishing a new ore loading dock at Escanaba.

"There seems to be some possibility that the Escanaba harbor could be kept open for water traffic throughout the winter if the need arose," the governor said, "but this is just one of many things the study commission will study. Primarily it will interest itself in means to speed the transportation of ore by water from Escanaba in event of some disaster to the Sault Ste. Marie Canal Locks."

The committee is composed of Joseph Green, of Crystal Falls, Franklin G. Pardee, conservation department mine appraiser; George E. Bean, Escanaba city manager, and Ben Sparks of Escanaba, upper peninsula mining coordinator.

Buck Private's $50 Pay Made Official

Washington, June 17 (AP)—Men in the armed forces were assured of minimum pay of $50 a month when President Roosevelt signed into law today legislation recently passed by congress.

Retroactive to June 1, the measure raises the pay of buck privates and apprentice seamen to $50, and likewise grants increases to grades up to and including army second lieutenants and naval ensigns.

For most men it means an increase of at least $20 a month.

Army privates now get $21 to start, $30 after four months and $40 after a year.

| Grade | Old | New |
|---|---|---|
| Privates and apprentice seamen | $30 | $50 |
| First class privates and second class seamen | 36 | 54 |

| Staff sergeants and second class petty officers | 84 | 114 |
| Master sergeants and chief petty officers | 126 | 138 |
| Second lieutenants and ensigns | 125 | 150 |

(A private now receives $21 monthly for his first four months, $30 thereafter, and $40 after one year in service.)

Nurses' base pay would be raised $20 monthly, to $90, for those with less than three years of service, and $5 monthly, to $135, for those with more than nine years of service. As in the case of the army and the navy, the base pay is exclusive of additional pay for longevity.

Rental allowances:

| Rank | Old | New |
|---|---|---|
| Second lieutenant with dependents | $40 | $60 |
| Without dependents | 40 | 45 |
| First lieutenant with dependents | 60 | 75 |

Higher ranks unchanged except for $25 increase for brigadier and major generals without dependents.

(Similar provisions for naval officers of corresponding rank.)

For all officers entitled to allowances for food, the daily single ration is increased 10 cents, to 70 cents daily.

STEPHAN FACES TREASON TRIAL

Detroit Restaurant Man Indicted for Aiding Escape of Nazi

Detroit, June 17, (AP)—An indictment charging treason—the maximum penalty, death—was returned by a federal grand jury here today against Max Stephan, restaurant proprietor accused of aiding a German flier who escaped from a Canadian concentration camp last April.

Stephan, who has been held under $25,000 bond since his arrest, will be arraigned on the treason charge Friday. Conviction would result in a minimum penalty of five years imprisonment.

Lieut. Peter Krug of the Nazi luftwaffe, who fled from the Bowmanville, Ont., camp April 16 and was recaptured 22 days later in San Antonio, Tex., may be a trial witness against the man who, federal agents say, fed and clothed him here, obtained a hotel room for him and arranged for him to travel by bus to Chicago.

Krug, in the uniform of a luftwaffe oberlieutenant, was brought here last week for a 32-minute appearance before the grand jury.

The treason charge against Stephan is the first to be brought in this country during the present war. U. S. District Attorney John C. Lehr said such prosecutions were rare during the last war.

Stephan is a naturalized American citizen who served as a sergeant in the German army during World war I, and for years has operated a restaurant on Detroit's east side, close to the Detroit river which separates the United States from Canada here.

Newspaper Postage Rate Boost Sought

Washington, June 17 (AP)—The house ways and means committee boosted the tentative total of its new tax bill to more than $6,650,000,000 today by deciding to tax parimutuel wagering, freight and express transportation and coin-operated amusement devices and to raise the postage rates on newspapers and periodicals.

The committee estimated that its action on those four items would produce $408,000,000. This, with other excise taxes already approved, would boost the total revenue from that source to $971,000,000.

The committee sought to complete consideration of all tax proposals within a few days. But Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the war production board proposed that the committee reopen the corporation tax phase of the bill and lower the top excess profits tax rate from 94 to 80 per cent to leave an incentive for efficiency in production of war and civilian necessities.

PETAIN ADMITS FRENCH UNREST

Anger and Discontent Rumbling, Aged Chief of State Says

Vichy, June 17, (AP)—Marshal Petain, France's aged chief of state, acknowledged on this second anniversary of his suit for the armistice with Germany that "discontent is growing x x x anger is rumbling" in France.

He appealed to Frenchmen to be patient and hopeful in the face of "all-too-real deficiencies of the state." Of these, he said he was aware, as he was of the unrest for which he blamed in part individual citizens.

Petain opened his address with a reference to June 17, 1940, "the tragic hour of the armistice request" when he called on the French "to silence your anguish so as to hearten only your faith in the destiny of your country."

"A year later, on June 17, 1941," continued the 86-year-old leader, "I declared to you that the trail would be long and hard. Today I cannot speak to you in different terms. x x x I do not hide from myself the feebleness of the echoes my appeals have met with.

"x x x The workman suffers—and his enforced passivity cannot be taken for resignation; the peasant grows impatient."

But he held out no promises of measures to allay conditions causing discontent; nor did he comment on the international situation or French politics.

Billy's Donations To Rubber Salvage Unpopular With Pa

Battle Creek, Mich., June 17, (AP)—Eight-year-old Billy Sharpsteen was a mighty unpopular boy with his father today. Billy, wanting to help win the war by salvaging rubber, carted a $25 spare tire a 1 an almost new pair of wading boots from his home to a nearby filling station this morning and donated them to the government.

Anson Sharpsteen, the father missed the tire and boots this afternoon and rushed to the filling station to retrieve them. He was informed by Mrs. Beulah Wakefield, filling station operator, that the tire and boots were somewhere near the middle of a 1,200 pound pile of scrap rubber. They were recovered some time later.

WAR NEWS BAD FOR AUSTRALIA

Prime Minister Warns People of Menace to Allied Cause

BY C. YATES M'DANIEL

Melbourne, Australia, June 17 (AP)—Prime Minister John Curtin warned his people today that the news from Libya "is not good" and that the situation in Russia holds dangers for the allied cause.

"Australia is irrevocably linked with the wars in Libya and Russia," he said, and added that the fall of Australia, a posibility always to be remembered, would open the way for a Japanese attack on Hawaii and the North American coast.

The prime minister spoke over the radio in an appeal for $9,000,000 a day for the next and final days of the second war loan drive.

"The news from Libya is not good. Rommel has made gains at great cost, but nevertheless gains which are clearly reverses for our forces. It is clear that the struggle in this theater has reached the critical stage."

A German victory in Russia, if it meant the fall of Russia, would be "a crushing blow to our cause," Curtin said.

"Such a calamity would strengthen Japan's position still further in the Pacific and against China. * * * We still face invasion and the horrors that would accompany it as surely as the Russian people experience it today.

"Submarine warfare against the allies has reached a high intensity and shipping losses, I tell you bluntly, are beyond our present annual replacement capacity. * * *

"The combined effect of the Coral sea, Midway and Aleutians battles, while frustrating from the Japanese viewpoint, was far from decisive in the struggle through which we must pass if we are to reach our men locked up in Singapore, free the Netherlands East Indies, re-enter the Philippines, release China and strike at the very heart of Japan."

Osage Indians Will Dedicate Dance To Missing Gen. Tinker

Pawhuska, Okla., June 17, (AP)—For the first time in history the Osage Indians will dedicate their victory dance to a tribal member, Maj. Gen. Clarence L. Tinker, reported missing after the Battle of Midway.

A special memorial service will be held Friday during the program ordinarily dedicated to tribal dieties.

Osage oldsters said that General Tinker, commander of the Hawaiian air force, as an eighth blood Osage participated in the dances as a boy.

Direct Relief Load Near Rock Bottom

Lansing, June 17 (AP)—John D. O'Connell, state welfare director, predicted today that Michigan's direct relief case load soon will fall below the 25,000 case figure which social workers once considered rock bottom.

For the third successive week, he said, the case load dropped to a record low. Now it is 25,742 cases, or 148 cases below the previous week. In a month, 9,300 persons have gone off the rolls.

There still are 4,600 employable persons on relief in the state, he said, but most of them are handicapped in some way.

NAZI CONTROL IS INCREASING ITS SAVAGERY

NORWEGIANS, POLES FEEL IRON HAND; MORE EXECUTED

BY NOLAND NORGAARD

London, June 17. (AP)—A growing wave of terror, with repressive measures of the Nazi conquerors increasing in savagery and ingenuity, was reported from many parts of occupied Europe tonight.

On the German home front itself, reports added, the Nazis have opened a new propaganda drive calling for fortitude and "iron purpose"—and, menacingly, warning of the dire consequences of defeat.

Slave Laborers Seized

By countries, the reports reaching London gave this picture of the latest Nazi moves to make good their "new order" in Europe:

Poland — More than 1,000 persons were arrested in Warsaw yesterday, the Polish government in exile announced, in a noon mass raid and were carried away, presumably, to join 5,000 others who were seized in Warsaw a few weeks ago and sent to Germany as slave laborers.

The Polish government in exile also said it had received word that 12 women and three men accused of distributing underground newspapers were hanged publicly in Poznan June 8.

Czechoslovakia—The Czech government in exile, led by President Eduard Benes, vowed vengeance on the Nazis from Hitler to the lowest tool of the Gestapo responsible for crimes committed in Czechoslovakia, where 382 persons have been executed and the village of Lidice exterminated with 350 more dead in retaliation for the assassination of Reinhard Heydrich, Gestapo executioner.

Civilians Starving

Russia—Russians escaping from German-held Kharkov, Ukrainian city, told of mass executions among suffering civilians who daily saw bodies of those who died of starvation being carted to the city's outskirts.

Yugoslavia — Reports received by secret channel said 250 hostages were shot in a ten-day period during April in the German-occupied part of Slovenia, in northern Yugoslavia. Yugoslav resistance continued and 1,500 axis soldiers were reported captured recently in a battle between them and Gen. Draja Mihailovic's guerrilla forces.

Greece — German authorities published a warning that 30 hostages would be shot unless sabotage ceases, a Moscow dispatch said. Several hostages already have been reported slain.

The German labor service has conscripted 26,000 Macedonians, an Athens dispatch to the Vatican

LOSSES WEAKEN GERMAN ATTACK

Red Defense Unbending Before Mass Assault On Sevastopol

BY HENRY C. CASSIDY

Moscow, June 17 (AP)—The fortifications of Sevastopol and historic, battered Balaklavia presented an unbending defense tonight to the repeated attacks of Germany's greatest offensive against the last Russian ports to stand guard on the western Black Sea.

Front line dispatches described six Nazi assaults against an important highway on the upper approaches to the Sevastopol naval base and five others against the southern defenses, and said the fury of the German attacks exceeded that of last November and December.

However, the Russians said they still hold the highway and remained in possession of Balaklavia, the fishing port seven and a half miles south of Sevastopol where the British light brigade made its storied charge in 1854.

The Germans continued fierce assaults on the Sevastopol lines Wednesday, the Russian midnight communique stated, but the Red army held firm and repulsed the attacks.

On other sectors of the front, no essential change took place, the communique said. It noted that in fighting on the Kharkov front the Russians destroyed 15 German tanks and "up to 1,500 German soldiers and officers."

(The German high command, reporting "bitter resistance and difficulties of terrain" at Sevastopol, said the Germans and Rumanians on that front had stormed the important "Fort Siberia" Wednesday morning and had extended other breaches in the fortified lines about the naval base.)

In the Ukraine, the second battle of Kharkov appeared to have turned in the Russian favor. The Germans were reported lagging in the attack and falling back from a number of new lines in the face of Red army counter-attacks. German Marshal Von Bock's forces appeared weakened by severe losses.

Railway Town Lost To Japs, Chinese Say

Chungking, China, June 17. (AP)—The Chinese acknowledged tonight the loss of Shangjao, an important station on the 450-mile Chekiang-Kiangsi railway, but declared heavy fighting was in progress in Kiangsi province, where two Japanese columns lack only about 50 miles of capturing the entire railroad.

The Chinese high command said Shangjao, 135 miles east of Nanchank, capital of Kiangsi province and about 50 from the Chekiang-Kiangsi border, was abandoned Monday to the Japanese after an all day battle in which the invaders suffered 8,000 casualties.

Shangjao was occupied by the Japanese column which swept westward into Kiangsi province after beating down Chinese resistance in Chekiang.

(The Japanese said their column has moved on beyond Shangjao. The army it is attempting to join marched eastward from Nanchang and is at Kweiki, 50 miles west of Shankjao, Domei news agency said.)

Attacking in the wake of the captors of Shangjao, the Chinese said, the city of Changshan, on the Chekiang-Kiangsi border, was recaptured by the Chinese.

New Rules Drafted For Factory Women

Lansing, June 17 (AP)—John W. Gibson, chairman of the state department of labor and industry, today announced new regulations governing the employment of women in industry.

Gibson said the rules were intended to guide war production plants which, in many cases, are inexperienced in the employment of women.

The rules:

1. Women shall not be required to remain standing constantly, and seats must be provided.

2. Women shall not be required to lift more than 35 pounds in the course of their regular work, nor shall they be required to carry more than 20 pounds while ascending stairs.

3. Women shall be prohibited from doing any type of overhead lifting or stacking.

4. Women shall be prohibited from employment in foundries, except core rooms.

5. Women shall not be employed in handling the following substances or operations unless ventilation and working conditions are approved by the department; lead benzene, carbon disulphide, and mercury, arc welding and dry grinding wheels.

6. Women's dressing rooms and first aid stations shall be furnished with a bed or cot.

7. Women shall not be employed in any other type of work disproportionate to their strength or in any way detrimental to their morals, health or potential capacity for motherhood.

8. No employer shall discriminate in any way in the payment of wages as between male and female employes in the manufacture or production of any article of like value either on piece work or on a time basis.

Gibson said he "strongly recommended" that women be required to wear proper safety clothing, that they have morning and afternoon rest periods of 15 minutes duration, and that they be provided sanitary lunch rooms.

Wake Island Leader Japanese Prisoner

Washington, June 17 (AP)—The war department announced today it had received official notification that Major James Patrick Sinnott Devereux of the Marines, who led the heroic defense of Wake Island, is a prisoner of the Japanese.

Devereux's name was one of 134 in the sixth list of prisoners of war and interned civilians received by the department from the Japanese government through the International Red Cross.

The list, which brought to 1,038 the total announced officially since the war began, contained the names of four officers and twelve enlisted men of the navy, and six officers and 112 enlisted men of the marine corps, most of them captured at Wake Island last December 23. They are imprisoned at Shanghai, China.

The men listed today represented 34 states and Canada. The army directed that publication of the names be confined to newspapers and local radio broadcasts normally serving the area in which the men resided.

Sugar Stamps Good For Double Amount For Monthly Period

Washington, June 17 (AP)—The office of price administration announced tonight that the value of sugar ration stamps 5 and 6 had been increased to two pounds each—but that each stamp would cover a period of a month instead of two weeks, continuing the weekly ration to each consumer at half a pound.

OPA explained that stamp No. 4, now valid for the purchase of a pound of sugar, would expire at midnight, June 27. The next stamp, good for two pounds, may be used at any time thereafter until midnight, July 25, whereupon stamp No. 6 will become valid until August 22.

Sometime before August 22, OPA will announce the period of time to be covered by other stamps in the ration books.

The ration stamps numbered from 1 to 4 each permitted purchase of one pound of sugar and covered a two-week period. OPA offered no official explanation of the extension to a month, but it was evident that the move to make a stamp last longer would reduce the number of stamps which grocers would have to handle.

Langlade Farmer Tosses Sap Fuel Into Scrap Heap

Antigo, Wis., June 17. (AP)—Frank Neigenfind, Langlade county farmer, stopped at a filling station here and started to toss off old tires from his truck.

He kept on tossing, while the attendant watched in amazement, until the pile towered as high as the station roof. When he stopped he had unloaded more than 500 tires—an estimated two and one-half tons—for the scrap rubber drive.

Neigenfind said he had bought the tires over a period of years to be cut up and burned in pans when boiling sap to make maple syrup in his sugar bush. He plans to burn wood next year.

FOUR WARSHIPS LOST

Berlin (from German broadcasts) June 17 (AP)—The German radio indicated tonight that the British navy had lost four warships in the air-sea battle in the western Mediterranean, reporting that 18 ships carrying dead and wounded men had reached Gibraltar this morning.

The radio, broadcasting a DNB dispatch from Madrid, said 22 warships left the British base last Thursday night. One of the cruisers which returned was said to be in a sinking condition.

Among the ships reported arriving were the battleship Malaya, and the aircraft carriers Eagle and Argus. The Eagle was said to have been damaged.

The Berlin broadcast follows:

"Madrid—The British battleship Malaya, two aircraft carriers, the Eagle and the Argus, as well as two destroyers and five corvettes, arrived in the harbor of Gibraltar Wednesday morning (today). Soon afterwards another eight men-of-war arrived, including a cruiser heavily damaged at the bow and stern which was in a sinking condition and had to be towed into the harbor by three tugboats.

"Many dead and wounded British sailors were disembarked from the two aircraft carriers, the battleship and the destroyers.

"The aircraft carrier Eagle is reported to have likewise been damaged.

"These units of the British navy had left Gibraltar in the night preceding June 12th. The squadron had consisted of the battleship Malaya, the aircraft carriers Argus and Eagle, three cruisers, eight destroyers and eight corvettes."

Norway — Four hundred loyal Norwegian teachers who refused to bow to the Quisling regime now are toiling on wharves at Kirkenes, northern Norway, beside Russian prisoners of war. One hundred and sixty others were assigned to similar tasks at Elvenes.

At least 60 Norwegians were arrested at Skien after defying the curfew and other restrictions and fear of more stringent Nazi action arose with reports that Reichscommissioner Josef Terboven had gone there to "clean up" the situation.

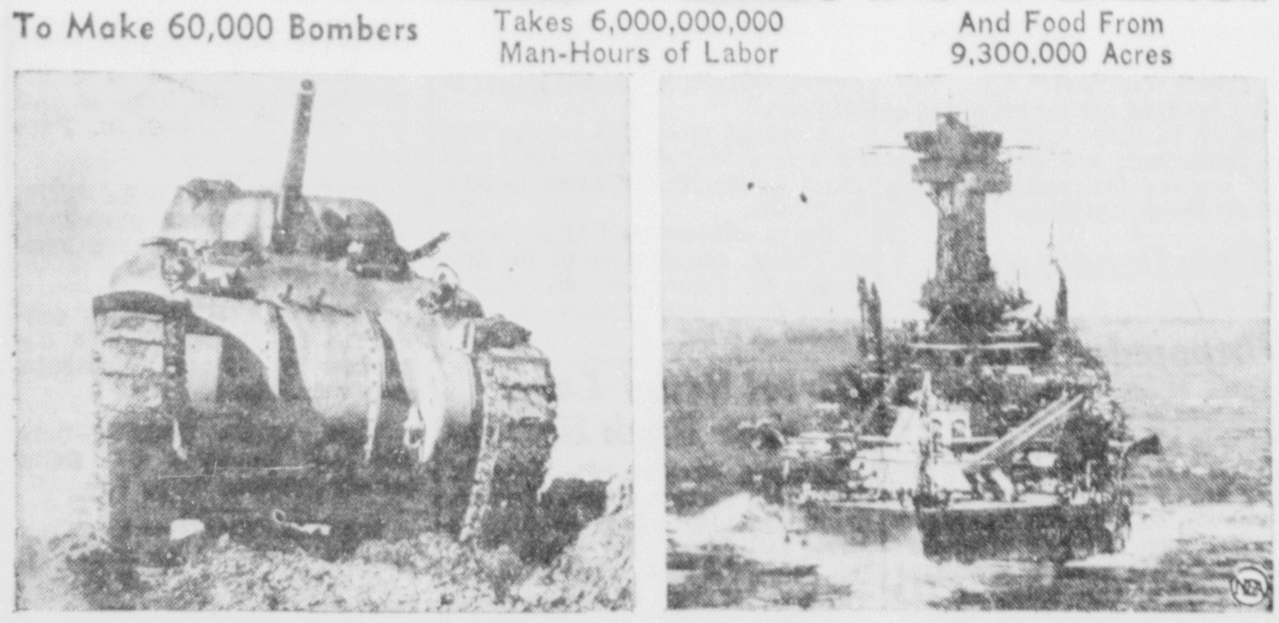
Win-the-War Formula: Plenty of Work and Food

To Make 60,000 Bombers

Takes 6,000,000,000 Man-Hours of Labor

And Food From 9,300,000 Acres



To Make 45,000 Tanks
Takes 1,206,000,000 Man-Hours
And Food From 1,935,000 Acres

To Make 32 Battleships
Takes 860,800,000 Man-Hours
And Food From 1,344,000 Acres

Arithmetic of our war effort is shown in pictochart above, giving an idea of how much production and food to feed the workers is needed to build the 60,000 planes and 45,000 tanks called for in 1942 by President Roosevelt, and the 32 battleships needed for our two-ocean Navy. Figures are from Department of Agriculture, with food estimates based on 1939 acreage production in Pennsylvania.

"Waste" is a fighting word today

If you're willing to take 3½ minutes to read what we have to say about "waste," we believe you'll be willing to volunteer for duty in the War on Waste...help to conserve the supply of coffee available for the "home front" and the "battle front."

In normal times the individual waste of a cup of coffee did not seem so important. It was so much less, proportionately, than the daily waste of other foods. But things are different now. Consider this—

According to latest figures, over 32 million families in the United States serve coffee at some time every day—a big percentage more than once a day. Now if only half of these families "pour out" just one cup of coffee a day, that's 16 million cups—nearly 400,000 pounds of coffee—DOWN THE SINK ... WASTED ... every day!

Of course there is plenty of coffee in the world today—green coffee. And there is plenty of green coffee in the United States today—for right now. But coffee is not grown in this country—it's only blended and roasted here. Coffee has to be imported—mostly from South and Central America. That takes ships. And the importance of ships in winning a war across two oceans means that not many can be spared for transportation of coffee.

So far, there is no rationing of coffee. That may have to come—but perhaps it need not be if you're willing to help.

The various Departments and Agencies of our Federal Government are taking every step which, in the light of progressing circumstances, appears protective and proper to guarantee continued and adequate supply for every person in our country. With 140 million people to serve, they have a big job to administer.

And today, every coffee importer, every coffee roaster, and every groceryman is working hand in hand with the War Production Board in a program of Coffee Conservation. The plan limits production for civilian use, but only to a point that represents little sacrifice for the average person if everyone will do his and her part in avoiding waste.

Here's how you can help:

You needn't deprive yourself of the coffee that you are accustomed to drink daily.

You needn't forego an occasional extra cup when the strain of wartime business or civilian effort calls for a lift to your morale.

You needn't try to satisfy yourself with a cup of weak coffee when you are used to, and prefer, full body and fine flavor.

BUT you should make every effort not to waste coffee when you make it. Measure both coffee and water carefully. We recommend a heaping tablespoon to the cup. A more accurate measure—and less wasteful—is two level measuring tablespoons to the cup. Many people prefer more or less—but that is the amount we have always said it takes to make really good coffee. And we still say that one cup of good coffee is more satisfying than two cups that only go "part way."

You should make just the amount you need for every meal—or any occasion. Remember what a wasted-cup-a-day per family means.

You should be conscientious, in buying coffee from your grocer, not to acquire larger reserve supplies than is your normal custom. A "run on coffee" would be the surest way of bringing about an "apparent shortage" that would call for further regulations.

As roasters and packers of fine coffee during the past 64 years, we too have our wartime duties to perform in order that the American tradition of coffee drinking may be kept secure.

It is our aim, first of all, to maintain customary standards of quality throughout these critical times.

We will meet with courage the necessity of packaging changes as often and as rapidly as the rising need for war materials may oblige us to face such problems.

Within the letter and spirit of every wartime regulation, we will supply our customers on an equitable basis so that Hills Bros. Coffee will continue to be available in every store where people wish to buy it.

In all these things we guarantee to do our best. We dare not promise more.

Sawyer-Stoll Lumbering In Ontario Is Described

Kiwanians of Belleville, Ontario, Canada, were guests of the Sawyer-Stoll Lumber company at Masonoga, Canada, recently. The Kiwanians visited the company's lumber mill at Masonoga and later were guests at a camp-style dinner served at the mill camp.

Wallace Johnston, of Ogontz, is general manager of the Sawyer-Stoll operations in Canada. The Sawyer-Stoll headquarters is located in Escanaba.

The Belleville, Ontario, Intelligencer published the following article describing the operations of the Sawyer-Stoll company in Canada:

"That the tradition of old-time lumber camps, log-birling contests and other activities associated with the lumbering business is not an entirely forgotten art was demonstrated to members of the Belleville Kiwanis club on Wednesday when they were priviliged to be guests of the Sawyer-Stoll Lumber company of Masanoga, 46 miles northwest of Tweed in the Mazinaw Lake district.

"Invited to the lumbering camp by the camp manager, Wallace Johnston, genial American from Michigan, the Kiwanians, about thirty-five in number, were shown through a modern lumber mill sawing upwards of 50,000 board feet of lumber per day, were treated to suberb shanty-style dinner, an exhibition of log rolling and heard a round of typical shanty tales by gray-thatched lumbermen to round out a perfect afternoon.

"Expressions of surprise and wonderment at the intricacies of a large lumber mill were heard from the Kiwanians as they were shown the various phases of mill operation from the time the log was taken from the water until the lumber was piled in the yards in neat piles for seasoning.

Extensive Operations

"One of the largest lumber companies operating in the district, Sawyer-Stoll, an American firm, have timber rights covering 56 square miles. They have been in the district three years and at present rate of operation will clear the limits in twelve to fifteen years. Two hundred men are employed during the winter during cutting operations and approximately 75 during the mill cut.

"Using caterpillar tractors and trucks for hauling to the mill, hardwood logs are placed on skidways in the mill yard while softwoods, hemlock, pine, spruce and cedar are dumped on the ice of Mink Lake, on the shore of which the mill is built.

"During the Kiwanian visit hemlog logs were being sawed while other softwoods were being sorted as they floated to the conveyor for elevation into the mill. Old-time river drivers in caulked boots steered the logs into their place. Hemlock was being sawed first, it was explained, because this timber takes in water and becomes water-logged quicker than other softwoods.

Speed Amazing

"Up in the mill all was bustle and activity and the speed with which operations were carried out by the well-trained mill crew was amazing to the uninitiated.

"From a small bank of logs on the rollway, the sawyer, rated the key man in sawmills, from his position at the controls manipulated the machinery permitting each log to be taken onto the saw carriage where operators 'dogged' it in sawing position. The saw carriage was controlled by a massive steam cylinder, which sent it flying back and forth past the humming band saw that sliced off slabe and planks as though they were cheese.

"Two carriage men ride this flying carriage for ten hours each day; one dogs the log in sawing position, when the sawyer turns it for the succeeding cut, while the other actuates other machinery moving the log into the saw. One mistake on the part of the sawyer or a miscalculation on the part of the carriage operators could mean serious injury or death to any of the operators.

"Only rough sawing is done on the first saw carriage after which the squared timbers are forwarded to the 're-saw' for cutting into the required dimensions. Here again through actuating a simple lever the operator can instantly set the machine for the required thickness of lumber. All two-inch lumber that can be sawed from the logs is taken, when hemlock is being processed, while other boards are finished at one inch and whatever widths and lengths they will make.

Slabs Sold for Stove Wood

Slabs from the mill are cut into four foot lengths to be sold as stove wood, while mill refuse is used for building up the mill yard, and sawdust is burned in the boilers to make steam for operation of the mill. One engine of approximately 165 horsepower provdes the power for all mill operations and operates the electric dynamo to light the camp.

"From the mill the lumber is piled in the yard for seasoning or taken to the newly constructed planer for planing. Approximately 90 per cent of the lumber shipped from the mill is planed, according to the manager.

"More important than even the sawyer for successful mill operation is the millwright, according to Mr. Johnston. This is the man who has charge of the mechanical condition of machinery. He files the band saws, which must be changed every five or six hours, or oftener if hardwood is being sawed, and directs the operation of the entire mill.

"Gasoline and rubber shortage will soon make a change in mill procedure in that less slabwood will be trucked out for market. A huge incinerator with connecting conveyor from the mill is at present being constructed. In this will be burned all refuse from the mill.

Serves 75 Meals at Sitting

"Promptly at six o'clock as the mill whistle indicated the close of operations for the day, the men knocked off their work and from the various departments congregated at the dining hall, where their competent cook serves up 75 or more meals, three times each day. The day for the cook begins early in the morning with breakfast at 6:15 and only ends late in the evening after the kitchen work is completed.

"In the bounteous meal served in the tidy dining room, the Kiwanians were given an indication that Sawyer-Stoll realize the imporance of catering to the 'inner man' as a means of their keeping employees satisfied. Choice of ham and well-done prime beefsteak, with potatoes, celery, pork and beans, tomatoes and home-made bread and buns were stowed away by the guests in amazing quantities. This was topped off by tea or coffee, deep apple pie, apricots, cookies and choice of cake.

Exhibition of Log Rolling

"An exhibition of log rolling in Mink Lake was given by old-time river drivers, one a French Canadian from the Gatineau district who has followed the river all his life, and another, a retired T. & N. O. railway conductor, who after 22 years has come back to rolling logs. The latter's reciting of a humorous poem describing the construction of the T. & N. O. brought peals of laughter from the guests and lumbermen.

"The skirl of the pipes was heard among the pines as Belleville's Jamie Clarke was present with his bagpipes, while Bruce Sills with his accordion lent variety to the program. After a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Johnston by President Jack Trudeau, the Kiwanians broke camp for Belleville, giving expression of an outing well enjoyed."

NOT NEW

First used by the Germans in July, 1917, mustard gas was not a new gas. It had been known for almost a century. Its popular name of "mustard" came from its odor.

Preserves Sanctity of Home

A MEASURE that may be history making in its import, was that passed by Congress of the United States on Tuesday, laying down the rule that even the most bitter war of all time must not be permitted to destroy the sanctity of the American home, until all other classes of manpower have been exhausted. The phraseology of the bill does not say just that in so many words, for it also provides for definite allotment pay for dependents of service men in the lower army and navy pay brackets.

In operation the measure gives to the selective service boards of the nation the power to "defer men having wives or children with whom they maintain a bonafide family relationship in a home". Previously married men have been deferred only because of financial considerations.

The financial reason for deferment, in many cases, would be at least partially removed by a twin provision in the same measure, pledging governmental contributions to military dependents, along with a portion of each military pay check.

The principle is thus set up, that the life of bona fide American homes will not be violently disturbed until all other classes of needed man power in the nation has been exhausted.

The measure, it is true, will load an additional responsibility upon the shoulders of local draft boards, who, in addition to other considerations, must now judge each case on the basis of legitimate dependency, as related to the maintenance of normal home life.

No other nation has ever taken such sweeping action in time of war, but in no other nation is the home so thoroughly recognized as the foundation stone of free government as it is in this country.

It is a heartening accomplishment.

Only in a Democracy

THE value of civilian criticism in the prosecution of the war is glaringly revealed by the manner in which the so-called brass-hats in the navy have finally come around to accept the plain facts that air power must be allowed to play a greater role in the present conflict.

Certain officials in the navy were hog-tied to the idea that the huge battleship was supreme, despite the arguments presented by aviation experts and many civilians for giving greater recognition to the importance of bomber and fighter planes. But in the battles of the Coral Seas and Midway Islands, the battleships did not get within fighting range of each other, and it was the aircraft, flying both from carrier and land bases, that wreaked vengeance upon the Japanese forces.

Dispatches from Washington on Tuesday disclosed that the house naval committee had approved an $8,500,000 bill calling for 500,000 tons of aircraft carriers and omitting any provision for new battleships. The emphasis is to be placed on carrier construction in the light of facts revealed in recent Pacific battles. Naval experts, of course, remain in charge of the designing and building of new naval craft, but it cannot be denied that Congress and the public have had marked influence on this phase of war policy.

This is another example of the worth of democracy, which provides an opportunity for the people to have a voice in the affairs of the nation. The value of public criticism was also demonstrated in England when the ordinary citizens cried out against a continuation of the Munich appeasement policy and demanded that Britain save her soul by taking a firm stand against totalitarian aggression.

It is not so in a dictator-ruled country. Hitler disregarded the advice of his military staff, and launched his costly campaign against Russia. Mussolini aligned himself with Hitler to steal a jackal's share of the war spoils, even though the Italian people disliked and distrusted the Nazis.

Dictators do not give the people credit for knowing anything. In a democracy the play of pro and con debate on public questions oftentimes brings out new information that can be decidedly helpful. Frequently, many mistakes by leaders can be averted by the force of public analysis and criticism. Democracy may function more slowly and awkwardly than the dictatorship form of government, but in the long run it avoids the deathly errors of strong-willed dictators.

China Faces Defeat

THE Chinese fought the Japanese for five years with virtually no outside help but without a whimper, and when the United States was forced to enter the war by the surprise attack upon Pearl Harbor there was much rejoicing in China.

But America's entry has not proved to be the boon that the brave, struggling Chinese anticipated; at least, not at the moment. It was not long before Japan succeeded in blocking the Burma road. Now the flow of war materials to the beleaguered Chinese is greatly diminished. Some goods are still being flown by air express from India, and Russia has been making deliveries by trucks over the long desert route through Mongolia. China is not getting enough assistance, however, and she is sending out an urgent appeal for intensification of the United Nations attack upon Japan in the Pacific to ease the pressure upon herself.

There was also much joy in China when Jimmie Doolittle and his American flyers bombed Tokio, but it actually worked to the temporary disadvantage of the Chinese. Doolittle's exploit opened the Japanese eyes to the threat of future bombing raids by airplanes based in China, and thereupon they pressed their campaign in China to seize control of bases that might possibly be used against them. As a result, the Chinese now find themselves in a sorry plight, and actually are threatened with defeat.

Stinging defeats administered to the Japanese in the Coral sea, at Midway Islands and the Aleutians have reduced the threat to Australia, Hawaii and Alaska. Japan likely will concentrate her efforts upon China, and there are signs that she has military designs upon Siberia, since she appears to be bottled up elsewhere.

It is to be hoped that American reinforcements, particularly fighter and bomber planes, can be rushed to the Chinese. The millions of Chinese soldiers can be of tremendous help to us in our war on Japan, and it would only make the task harder for us if we allow the Chinese to become immobilized for the lack of arms.

Our Municipal Dock

ALTHOUGH it has not been publicized as such, the arrival of the S. S. South American from Detroit this evening may be considered as a sort of formal dedication of Escanaba's new municipal dock.

The Georgian Bay Line chose Escanaba as a port of call for its pre-season cruise of the South American from Detroit. Among the passengers will be Abner Larned, state WPA administrator, and other officials, who will make an inspection of the new dock, which was constructed as a city-sponsored WPA project.

With automobile travel being curtailed because of the rubber shortage, there is the possibility that lake cruises will return to their old-time popularity during the summer vacation season. If this revival does occur, Escanaba will be prepared to offer dockage facilities, which in the last few decades have been sadly lacking.

THIS IS WHAT HE MEANS!
Grand Rapids Press)

If Raymond Clapper needed any further evidence to buttress his argument that congress is still playing politics to the hilt he has but to cite the action of Representative Malcolm C. Tarver of Georgia. Tarver, chairman of the house appropriations subcommittee on agriculture and one of the most vociferous champions of the CCC, Wednesday opposed successfully a proposal to add $3,000,000 to the appropriation for the forest service for fire fighting purposes. Bearing the senate's approval, the proposal lost in the house by a vote of 171 to 174.

This is the same Tarver who pleaded vigorously for the maintaining of the CCC because it was necessary for the protection of our national forests. This is the man who was willing to earmark for the CCC more than $75,000,000 because that organization was so essential to forest fire control but who, when the only question at stake is forest protection, doesn't think that a sum amounting to less than 4 per cent of the CCC figure ought to be spent. Need anyone be told that Tarver's ardent defense of the CCC as a forest-protecting agency was nothing more than a feeble attempt to justify that organization's perpetuation?

The tragedy of this latest fiasco is that forests which take as much as 200 years to mature will lack adequate protection this year, not because the CCC will not be there to afford that protection, but because the Tarvers in the house consider their own puny ambitions and desires subvervient to the national interest. Here in the record is a sample of the brand of politics Clapper has been decrying; here is a case where half of the house thought it more expedient to plug a pet scheme rather than provide three million dollars for the protection of a resource, the value of which runs into the billions.

OUR WARTIME WPA
(Chicago Journal of Commerce)

Washington observers believe that the $337,000,000 WPA appropriation passed by the House for the fiscal year beginning July 1, next, will find ready acceptance in the Senate. It is understood, in fact, that new make-work projects already are planned and that a total of 40,000 persons will be employed on them.

Meanwhile labor shortages exist in many occupations vital to the victory problem. The shortage of farm labor, to cite only one instance, is acute. As of April 1, 1942, the Department of Agriculture reported the national farm labor supply as only 61.4 per cent of normal. The index of farm wages, moreover, was at 177 in April, 1939, the last pre-war year.

True, all WPA workers are not equipper for all farm jobs. But the United States Employment Service maintains a cross check with the WPA which should be able to channel thousands of WPA workers into the less exacting farm jobs. With the farm labor supply approximately 40 per cent under normal and war industries still seeking skilled and unskilled workers, there is little or no excuse for maintaining 400,000 persons on the WPA rolls.

Doubtless, many of the new WPA projects will have as much of a war flavor as can be imparted to them. In some cases, these projects may even be of some use in the war effort. On the whole, however, the history of WPA justifies a healthy skepticism toward all its works.

Foreign News Analyzed

BY CONSTANTINE BROWN

The summer of 1942 will bear a great similarity to the summer of 1918; the Germans will be then, as they were 24 years ago, engaged in an offensive in which they must shatter the Allies or face the cold prospect of fighting a purely defensive war henceforth.

This does not mean that if the German offensive fails, and the Allies begin an attack, the war will be over in a few months. Most army and navy officers are convinced that the war against the Axis will be long and bloody.

They are equally confident, however, that if the two offensives the Nazis are believed to have in mind are not successful, the Germans' chief preoccupation in 1943 will be in attempting to repulse United Nations attacks.

—STILL SHORT OF SHIPS—

With war materials pouring out of factories the training of America's first line army of 1,800,000 is progressing very satisfactorily. An important force is now in Ireland. We are still severely short of ships, but are making up for that by using the same large transports time after time.

By the same means of working our transports to the utmost of their speed, we are getting war material to Gen. Douglas MacArthur in satisfactory quantities. The Australians are hard at work establishing their own war plants, and thanks to supplies of chrome and nickel from nearby New Caledonia they are having a certain measure of success.

While the vigilance of naval and air forces is unrelaxed, Gen. MacArthur feels confident that the Australians need not fear a major Japanese attack. Until the Coral Sea battle he was thinking only in terms of defending Australia, but now he is planning a systematic infiltration of United Nations forces into the Japanese-held islands west and north of Australia.

The Nazis are expected to launch their attacks in the east on two fronts: one the gigantic Russian front extending from Murmansk to the Black Sea; the other the Near East, where Marshal Erwin Rommel is feeling out the Allies, but has not begun a major effort.

Whether the Nazis will strike their blow in Libya, with a view to cracking the British defenses protecting Egypt, or will attempt to draw large British forces from Asia Minor, and then make an attack on that region from some other direction, remains to be seen. But it is significant that in spite of weather conditions which hamper fighting in North Africa, the Nazis are continuing relentless attacks against the British.

—CONCENTRATE ON RUSSIA—

The African front, however, is considered a secondary show by most military observers in Washington. The main effort, these observers believe, will be concentrated against the Soviet forces.

The strategy of the Nazi high command in all likelihood will be directed toward the annihilation of the Russian forces rather than the capture of important cities, which, at best, would make sensational headlines but would give no positive results as far as successful prosecution of the war is concerned.

In most Washington military quarters it is believed that the main German offensive will begin sometime in the next week. Until the middle of this month Russian roads were not in condition for large-scale operations. But between now and the beginning of October weather conditions will be favorable for the use of Panzers and large air forces.

Out of 40 Nazi divisions which are holding Western Europe for the Nazis at least 35 are composed of old men. These cannot be utilized in such hard fighting as will be necessary in Russia. Thus, while an American-British attempt to land forces somewhere in Europe is regarded as a possibility by the Nazi high command, the Germans prefer to take the chance of holding Western Europe with second class forces and to throw their best fighting men into the great battle for annihilation of the Soviet armies.

There is a certain amount of uneasiness in well-informed Washington quarters over the developments of the next few months. From past observation there seems to be no doubt that the Russians will resist as tenaciously as they have done in the last 12 months. But the question whether needed supplies can reach them in sufficient quantities, and on time, is a matter which is giving American strategists some concern.

SURPRISE WORD OF THE WEEK

* * *

We have borrowed the word DIVORCEE from the French. In that language it means "a divorced woman." But, in American usage, divorcee may properly designate a divorced person of either sex.

What makes divorcee a surprise word is its pronunciation. The average person will say "duh-VORE-see," but I have never seen a dictionary that sanctions the second-syllable accent. All agree that the accent should fall only on the third syllable, thus:

First choice (United States):

di-vore-SEE

Second choice (French):

de-vore-SAY

It's Hard to Believe

Pine Bluff: Please give the pronunciation and origin of CANAPE, the appetizer. —Mrs. H. T. W.

Answer: Both "a's" are flat as in can, nap. The third syllable receives the accent, and rhymes with day, thus: ka-na-PAY

The word is French. But in that language it means "sofa." The French borrowed the word from the Latin conopeum, meaning, "a couch or bed with a canopy of mosquito netting." It's hard to believe, but it's true.

Answers To Questions

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Escanaba Daily Press Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for return postage.

Q. How long have American soldiers worn khaki uniforms? R. C. D.

A. Khaki uniforms were first worn in this country by Theodore Roosevelt's Rough Riders in 1898.

Q. Which are the largest and smallest counties in respect to population? N. D.

A. The largest county in the United States according to population is Cook County, Illinois, having a populace of 4,063,342. The smallest is Armstrong County, South Dakota, the population of which is 42.

Q. Are animals color blind? J. J.

A. This is a matter concerning which complete information is not yet available. It has been definitely decided that some monkeys, particularly gorillas, do have a sense of color. We also know that hummingbirds favor red. If animals, insects, and birds do have color vision it is at the red end of the spectrum.

Q. How large is Japan? B. M.

A. The area of Japan proper is 148,756 square miles, making it a little smaller than California. Because the islands are extremely mountainous, only about one-seventh of the area is habitable for its 70,000,000 people.

Q. What is the extent of the world supply of gold? K. D.

A. The world's supply of gold is estimated to exceed 25 billions of dollars.

Q. Was it usual for the great masters to paint portraits of themselves? P. S.

A. It was, apparently, not unusual for great artists to do so. The Uffizi Gallery in Florence has a room where portraits of great artists by themselves are hung. Among them are Rembrandt, Velasquez, Sir Joshua Reynolds and many others.

Q. What is the most popular kind of candy? R. C. D.

A. Milk chocolate is the most popular candy in the world.

Q. How long was the longest tug of war ever recorded? N. E. E.

A. The longest ever recorded took place at Jubbulpore, India, on August 27, 1889 between two companies of the 2nd Derbyshire Regiment. It lasted 2 hours and 41 minutes.

Q. Was Napoleon short in stature? N. W. B.

A. Though generally regarded as a small man, measurements made of Napoleon upon his deathbed by his physician Antommarchi showed his height to be 5 feet 6½ inches. No doubt he was taller in his prime.

Q. Is there a crane large enough to lift a battleship? N. E.

A. The Navy Department says that there is no crane in existence capable of lifting a battleship, but there are many instances on record of heavy freight locomotives being lifted by cranes in machine shops; also guns of the largest caliber; and the largest type of modern tanks.

Hollywood Column

BY PAUL HARRISON
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

Hollywood—For a good many years, DeMille of de movies has ground slowly, and of a fineness sufficient to make an awful lot of money at the boxoffice. Most of his superdoopers have reached back into history, and his preparation of them has been, in its way, almost as leisurely. He always keeps a few ideas in the back of his mind for seasoning, and when one of them is brought forth for active development, the fanfare and whoop-te-do are reminiscent of the selection of a Tibetan baby destined for the robes of the Grand Llama.

It is customary for DeMille to hire a corps of writers and assign them to various duties of research, creation and polishing. The old master now dons riding pants and puttees and commutes between his city home, his mountain retreat and his office for meditation and conferences. As pages of the script are submitted to him, he rewrites them. Sketches of sets are returned by him with notations to erect a Norman castle here, and to have a river wind out of the forested hills. After a few months, he gathers up a cast and starts shooting. Before the year is out a new DeMille epic, each one inevitably "the greatest," is on the screen.

COMES A SHOCK

Hollywood has been so accustomed to this somewhat ponderous procedure that it couldn't even believe the news that Cecil Brobdingnagian DeMille had snatched a brand-new idea in 10 minutes and had set wires buzzing all over the country with his determination to rush it into celluloid. Not only that, but it's a modern story. A war yarn, and true.

It started during the broadcast by President Roosevelt in which he described the exploits of four new American heroes. One of these was Dr. Corydon E. Wassell, a 58-year-old Arkansan who had been a medical missionary in China and was commissioned a Navy lieutenant commander after Pearl Harbor. During the Japanese occupation of Java he evacuated nine wounded men from the interior of the island during incessant bombings, took them 1500 miles through the enemy blockade and airplane attacks to safety in Australia. He won the Navy cross for doing it.

Before the President was off the air, DeMille was excitedly telephoning Y. Frank Freeman, head of Paramount, that he wanted to film the story of Dr. Wassell. A few minutes later they put in a call for Secretary Steve Early at the White House. A telegram went to Navy Secretary Frank Knox and another to the Hays Office as a filing of DeMille's claim to the movie rights. An announcement from Washington said DeMille would get the story, and Navy Relief would get the money paid for it.

James Hilton will write the yarn first, in book form, and the screen play will be patterned from his work. This seems like a pretty roundabout procedure, but Hilton insisted on it. He already has interviewed members of the Wassell family, and today I looked over more than 400 pages of detailed statements obtained from the rescued men.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington—Only one thing is standing in the way of lowering the draft age to 18 years—Congress.

The Army, Navy, Selective Service and the War Man Power Board all favor taking the step. But Congress, already jittery over the coming elections, stalls. In private conferences, floor leaders have vigorously warned against doing anything; even have told the President and the war chiefs that if an age-lowering bill is introduced it is sure to be killed.

That is the inside reason why the President has held off, despite strong pressure from his military advisers.

They have presented two principal arguments: (1) that youths between the ages of 18 and 21 make the best fighters, particularly in the air; (2) that lowering the draft age to 18 will eliminate a lot of headaches resulting from the induction of large numbers of married men.

With its Air Corps headed for million-man strength, the Army is anxious to get as many 18-to-21 year-olds as possible. War experience has proven that youths in these age groups make the best fighter pilots, gunners and bombardiers.

Most of Britain's ablest squadron leaders now are men between the ages of 21 and 23, who began air fighting before they were 20.

But with the scared congressional eye fixed on the ballot boxes, the military leaders have made absolutely no headway. And if the floor bosses can help it, they won't until after November.

That is the inside situation on the issue today, which under cover is one of the hottest in the Capital. Congress wants no more headaches, and the draft law can't be changed without Congress.

Note: Meanwhile the military pay increase to $50 a month is attracting thousands of under-draft age youngsters to the colors.

—NUTS TO YOU, OFFICER—

A policeman guarding the House entrance to the Capitol fixed a suspicious eye on a neatly-dressed man who said he had an appointment with Representative Sol Bloom of New York, chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee.

"Just a minute," said the cop. "What have you got in that bag?"

"Nuts," replied the stranger.

"Don't give me that stuff," retorted the bluecoat. "What have you got in that bag?"

"Nuts," repeated the visitor.

"For the last time," insisted the policeman, "what have you got in that bag?"

The stranger opened the bag, revealing a quantity of Mexican cohune nuts. He said he was trying to interest the government in importing the nuts, for their rich oil, and thought Bloom might help him.

—DO-AS-DONE-BY DEPARTMENT—

Philadelphia has set a goal for other large cities to shoot at in the sale of war bonds.

It is the only big city where all the large department stores have turned over their entire sales force to pushing the sales of war stamps and bonds. Under this patriotic program over 6,000 trained sales people are selling war securities, so the boys at the front can keep 'em flying and rolling.

The stores participating in this unique drive are John Wanamaker; Strawbridge & Clothier; N. Snellenburg; Lit Brothers; Gimbels; and Blauner's.

—NO NICKEL FOR 5c PIECE—

Some people have the idea that Congressmen do nothing but draw gasoline X-cards and make speeches. Actually, however, a lot of things would slip by the executive branch of the Government if it were not for watchful Congressmen.

For instance, the Treasury recently was on the verge of coining a new nickel without any nickel in it when Congressman Charles Dewey of Chicago stepped in and pointed out that the new nickel could not be used in the New York subway turnstiles, nor in thousands of slot machines which sell refreshments in factories and elsewhere.

Behind all this is the fact that nickel is one of the scarcest of defense metals; so the Government had decided the new 5-cent piece should not be made of nickel at all, but of fifty per cent copper and fifty per cent silver.

But suddenly Congressman Dewey discovered that it is not entirely the weight or size of the 5-cent piece which moves turnstiles or slot machines, but a magnetism coming from the quantity of nickel in the coin. Copper and silver, it was also found, would not set off the mechanism. So the mint suddenly held up making the new coins.

Since then it has been discovered that electrolic manganese, not a critical war material, can be used to supply magnetism, and it will be used instead of nickel. So the new 5-cent piece will function in slot machines and subway turnstiles after all.

—PAINFUL WORDS—

One factor which contributed heavily to Representative Luther Patrick's defeat in the Alabama primary was the recording of a broadcast he made several months ago.

"The opposition played that record all over the district," says Patrick, "until I had nightmares. I had said over the radio—

" 'Ladies and gentlemen, we passed some kind of an appropriation bill up there a while ago. I voted for it. You know how it is with congressmen. We vote a bill out today, and then bring a paper tomorrow to see what it was.'

"I thought it was a pretty clever joke then, but when I heard that record played back to me a dozen times down in my district over the radio, it did not sound so funny. No sir, I did not think it was a bit clever."

And, judging by the votes—neither did the people in Patrick's district.

Nerve specialists, not detectives, can end crime waves, says a college professor. Well, bandits certainly have plenty of nerve.

IOWA RESIDENTS LIKE OUR TOWN

City Manager Receives Letter Seeking Dope On Escanaba

Escanaba—the model city. At least, that is the way it appeared to Mr. and Mrs. Matt E. Lawrence of Ottumwa, Iowa, from whom City Manager George E. Bean received a letter yesterday requesting more information regarding the city.

Mrs. Lawrence, who praised the city-manager plan of government, stated that it had been applied in her home town, but that residents there were planning to try it again in the near future, but desired more information regarding cities which had already placed the plan in operation.

Her letter follows:

"On a recent visit to Escanaba both Mr. Lawrence and myself were impressed with the many improvements there—street lights, street markers, parks, city equipment, paved streets, etc. We were also told of the summer recreation activities and that you employ a full time director of recreation.

"We have noticed similar improvements in other towns governed by city-manager plans. We made one attempt toward that plan in this city but failed—however, we plan to again try it in the near future.

"We should like to compare tax levies with our own city. What is the tax levy in Escanaba and how is it apportioned to the different divisions in the city—police, fire, streets, parks, play ground activities, etc. Have you a report that will cover all these things that you would be able to send us?"

P. S. Mr. Bean immediately set to work to obtain the information that would give residents of Ottumwa all of the fine points of Escanaba.

Former Escanaban Notes War Changes On Bermuda Islands

As war has affected the United States and Europe, so ithas changed the Bermuda Islands. This is the report of Mrs. Arthur Peerless, former Escanaban, who returned to the States last February after living for approximately a year on the group of islands 14 miles long and just one mile wide.

One of the first differences noticed was between the two trips taken, that to the islands some time ago and the return trip this past winter. The boat Mrs. Peerless had planned to take was sunk on its way to Bermuda, and the Clipper was taken instead. Even on the trip to Bermuda passengers recognized the fact that they were in a war zone. Lookouts were stationed on the ship and a special pilot was used to direct it through the mined channel.

"Complete blackouts were held all the time, and 1500 British censors kept a close check on all outgoing and incoming mail." Bermuda is a huge naval and fueling depot and the large Scottish regiment usually maintained there has been strengthened and enlarged since the beginning of the war. Also the Americans have leased the islands and established an army and naval air base.

"We had all kinds of battleships in our 'backyard' and learned their names and the kind they were." Travelers, however, must bring pictures of the islands back in their minds, since no one is allowed to take pictures. An English concentration camp, where German prisoners are guarded and kept, is located on the island. The gleaming white merchant vessels of the aparently unafraid Swiss are the only neutral ones which near Bermuda now.

Since America has leased part of the islands for a naval air base, thousands of Americans have gone to Bermuda and as a result of the building and modernizing being done, living costs have easily tripled. Never in the history of the islands has business experienced such a rise.

British and natives of the islands at first resented the Americans coming, but slowly they are coming to admire their accomplishments.

"They were horrified at the idea of trucks, steam shovels and dynamite ruining their islands. They had a somewhat sentimental attitude."

They soon were amazed at the speed and efficiency with which Americans worked. Our workers dredged a channel in three weeks—one they had been trying to do for 13 years. Americans introduced pasteurization of milk, and began a general cleaning up of many of the previous unsanitary conditions existing. Jealousy arose also, because of the higher wages paid American laborers.

To prevent transients from making "quick" money the requirement for establishing a business in Bermuda, is residency for ten years.

In this small group of islands, there are really only two towns, Hamilton and St. George, which are located at opposite ends of the long narrow stretch of land.

The predominant nationality is, naturally, English. Also there are the natives, negroes who originally came from the West Indies, and Americans. Bermudians are those who have long established residences there and who have for generations made their homes on the islands. These people are governed by colonial parliament headed by a governor who is appointed by the king.

Normally, no automobiles are allowed on the islands. Bicycles and carriages are the accepted modes of transportation. Due to the difficulty of obtaining and the expense of feed, few private carriages are maintained, but are used generally in place of the American taxi.

A common sight is women in evening gowns and men in tuxedos riding bicycles to dinner parties." Bicycles are of a different type than the balloon-tired ones used here. English bicycles with three gears, small tires and very little weight are used and much more easily managed. A diesel trolley is also used for transportation from one end of the island to the other.

"Since the war began, doctors drive cars, and now fire departments and other groups are finding excuses for having automobiles."

Bermuda is a coral island and therefore not suited to the raising of crops, onions and lilies being the only ones raised in abundance.

This has given rise to a serious problem since trade has become so limited and has caused strict food rationing since the war began. Canned goods is the mainstay as no fresh milk, fruit or vegetables are available.

Many survivors from wrecked ships are brought to the islands. Those who are Americans are given food, clothing and shelter until transportation can be arranged by the American government. English survivors are treated likewise by their government.

"One Spanish boat which had accommodations for 15 and was carrying 1500 persons, stoped at the island. Some of them had payed their life savings for passage just to get out of Europe. Clothes and money were collected and then they went on.

Differences in clothing, customs and recreation made Mr. and Mrs. Peerless aware that they were in a foreign country. Limestone houses, with roofs made so as to catch all the rain water, were one of the first things they noticed. Bermuda has a law requiring roofs to be whitewashed twice a year to keep them fit to catch the rain water, which is the only kind used on the islands. Last year during a drought, water was imported from the United States. Unlike the natives, Mrs. Peerless boiled the water before using it.

In summer and winter, the customary garb for businessmen is shorts. English tweeds and woolens are seen and most wearing apparel follows English styles. Both the English and American goods were shown but preference went to the British.

Soccer and cricket are the main sports, and when Americans introduced baseball and the screaming and clamping of feet and heckling that goes with it, dignified Britishers were horrified. A jolly old "hand clap" is their response to a good play or a goal scored.

"In newspaper communications they criticized Americans for reverting to their Indian characteristics and pointed out that since the baseball field was near a cemetery, they might at least respect the dead."

Somewhat opposite to American customs, Bermudians wear white to funerals and black to weddings. Funerals are simple and inexpensive. Persons are buried in plain wooden boxes the same day they die, because they are not embalmed. No matter how far the cemetery, everyone walks. Pallbearers wear swallow-tail coats and high silk hats.

Movies, all of which are out of date, bicycling and picnics are the main sources of recreation. A basket is attached to the back of the bicycle for the family, or tandems or three-seated bicycles are used.

Education is not compulsory, and tuition is set so high that only the wealthy can afford to go. There are exclusive boys' schools patterned after Eaton, but there is not the equal opportunity for learning that is taken for granted here.

The S. P. C. A. (Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals) is a very active organization on the islands. It is quite necessary due to the great number of horses used in Bermuda.

"There are many different holidays observed, one being Boxing Day—the day after Christmas, when you give your postman, milkman, iceman, grocer, and butcher each a present. Where this custom originated and why it was the day after Christmas wasn't determined, but we did see where it could have its advantages.

We felt most honored to have Winston Churchill for our next-door neighbor, even if it was only for a day. He stopped at the Government house which happened to be a stone's throw away from where we lived."

URGES FLAG DISPLAY

Iron Mountain—Sharp criticism of some business men in the city for failing to display the American emblem on Flag Day, and for some spectators along the route of the Memorial Day parade, for neglecting to salute when the flag passed by, was voiced by Mayor Ivar Anderson, and Aldermen Roy Anderson and Ruffatto, at yesterday's council meeting.

As a result, Alderman Art Holmberg, storekeeper in the city, and Dan Goodman, of the A. Sackim company, were delegated by Mayor Anderson to select a third committeemen and interview all business men in the city, urging their cooperation in the daily display of the colors, for the duration.

The council also approved a motion by Alderman Ruffatto to purchase patriotic shields for display on light poles in the business district.

Degrees Awarded 1,397 In Military Setting At Michigan State College

East Lansing, Mich., June 18 (AP)—Amid a setting of hustling military activity, 1,379 students received degrees today the 84th annual commencement at Michigan State College today.

Even as Dr. John A. Hannah completed his first year as president by conferring degrees to more than 1,100 regular seniors and 200 special students, the college emphasized its importance in the war effort.

In a military parade preceding the commencement ceremony, Army officials reviewed 144 senior R.O.T.C. students who have received commissions as Second Lieutenants and will be called to active duty within 10 days.

At the same time, the Board of Agriculture approved use of the Well's Hall dormitory by the Army ordnance for more than 300 Army, Navy, Marine and Air Corps men "for the duration". Contingents of the service men will remain four weeks each at the college attending a gunnery service school in Lansing.

A throng of 7,500 parents, relatives and friends of the graduates crowded Jenison field house for the closing exercises and heard Dr. James J. Tigert, president of the University of Florida, direct the class to a "new crusade" of reviving "hope and purpose and banishing defeatism and cynicism".

Dr. Tigert expressed hope that world civilization may be emerging from its last great era of strife and confusion and that the present conflict may demonstrate, for all time, the iniquity and futility of war.

Three possible post-war courses are open, "Provided we win," Dr. Tigert declared.

"We can undertake to police the world with our Allies and attempt to destroy or crush under our heels the Germans and Japanese. But the complete destruction of our enemies is impractical and unthinkable and would inevitably lead to another war.

"We can adopt again a position of complete isolationism and attempt to develop a self-contained America without regard to other nations. But other nations would pursue the same policy and we would once more come to the end of the road—and to war.

"Or, we can collaborate in setting up an association of free nations, willing to submit their differences to the arbotrament of a court, rather than the sword, and sustained by an international police force. Such a concert of nations is the only foundation upon which peace can be laid.

"The nations of the western hemisphere already are being drawn into an association involving political and economic collaboration. The plan would be practicable in Europe."

"Out of the present war," Dr. Tigert declared, "there would issue a kind of Asiatic Monroe doctrine which would mark the end of domination of Eastern peoples by Europeans.

"Continental organizations of the Americans, Europeans and Asiatics might be welded into a world order that would be worthy of the name, and that would protect posterity from the periodic return of far-flung and destructive wars."

At the annual meeting of the patriarchs' group, composed of alumni who graduated at least 50 years ago, 92-year-old Dean F. Griswold of Northville, class of '75, was awarded the Kedzie alumni cane, traditionally given to the college's oldest living graduate.

Honorary degrees were conferred upon Dr. Clifford Candy Young, director of the Michigan Department of Health laboratories, and Dr. Harry Joshua Eustace, Director of Public Relations and Research for Agricultural Trade Relations, Inc., of San Francisco.

Dr. Young received a Doctor of Public Health degree from the University of Michigan in 1924. Dr. Eustace graduated from Michigan State College in 1901 and served on the faculty as Professor of Horticulture from 1908 to 1919.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gilman and son, Bruce, of Germfask, visited at the Axel Neimi home Sunday. Their son, Bobby, who had been visiting his grandparents last week returned with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sayen of Green Bay, are visiting relatives here this week. Mr. Sayen, who has a second class electrician's rating, is stationed with the Coast Guard Communications bureau at Green Bay.

George S. Butler of Marquette was a guest of the Roy C. Hills Monday evening. He and Mr. Hill left later for the Butler camp near Sullivan's Landing where they expect to do some work on the camp this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tobey and sons, Roy and Jerry, of Detroit, are spending a two weeks' vacation at the Sunset Cabins.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Miller of Detroit are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Petitpren. They will remain for several weeks.

45-DAY SPEECH RECALLED

William H. Upjohn, barrister, who died at Lyndhurst, England, recently, made what was probably the longest speech ever heard in the Law Courts. He was appearing in the Phoenix Gold Mining case which occupied 130 days in 1916-17, and his final speech last 45 of them. In another suit in which he represented a coal mining company, he spent six to eight hours a day for a week underground in preparatory investigation.

EMPLOYMENT IN WPA IS FALLING

Less Than 400 Persons Now Employed On Construction

From a peak of more than 2550 persons employed on WPA construction projects in Delta county in the spring of 1935, there are now less than 400 persons assigned to construction projects under the WPA program.

Virtually all projects that cannot justify their existence under the national defense program are out. Projects are divided into three classifications—non-defense, certified non-defense, and defense. The certified non-defense projects are those in which some value from the projects is beneficial to the defense effort.

Two of the six projects now in operation in Delta county are non-defense projects, which on Monday, Jan. 15 employed a total of 72 men. These projects are the U. S. Forest Service project, with 59 men, and the construction of the new municipal garage at Gladstone, with 20 men assigned.

The largest project now as in the past is the county road commission county-wide road repair and construction job, which is listed as a certified non-defense job. A total of 239 men were employed on this project on June 15, compared with the peak of 2102 men assigned to this project alone in 1938.

The municipal dock project employed 63 men as of June 15. The rail removal program is a full defense project, employing 15 men. In addition to these projects, one man is assigned to defense salvage work in the upper peninsula under the direction of the War Production Board.

It is likely that at least the projects connected with the defense program will be continued after July 1, when the new fiscal year begins.

The projects listed above do not include non-construction WPA projects, such as the WPA sewing project or the WPA recreational project or similar projects still in operation here.

DOCK PROJECT BEING STUDIED

Eastman Sends Answer to Van Wagoner's Letter

Lansing, (AP)—Governor Van Wagoner received a letter today from Joseph B. Eastman, director of the office of emergency management in Washington, assuring him serious study is being given to his suggestion of federal subsidy for construction of a new iron ore dock at Escanaba as a war preparedness measure.

The governor had pointed out in a letter to Eastman that Escanaba, as a Lake Michigan port, might provide a "safety valve" to assure water shipment of ores from the Upper Peninsula and Minnesota in event of a disaster to the Sault Ste. Marie canal locks. He estimated at $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 the cost of providing a concrete loading dock and expanded rail facilities to serve it.

Eastman's reply said:

"This will acknowledge your letter of June 1, urging favorable consideration of the proposed expansion of ore dock facilities at Escanaba, Michigan. This is a matter which my office has been studying with considerable care.

"It appears entirely practicable to move ore from the Minnesota ranges via Escanaba, but it will require the expenditure of a fairly large sum of money for improvement of both the railroad lines and the docks. We expect to report to the war production board in regard to this matter."

Decide Question Of U.P. Induction Center Today

Whether Traverse City will be retained as the induction center for Army draftees in the Upper Peninsula or it will be shifted back to Marquette, will be decided at a meeting of army authorities at the Sixth Corps Area Headquarters office in Chicago this morning.

No decision regarding the problem was reached at a conference held in Marquette yesterday as a result of criticism which was aroused throughout the Peninsula when draft boards of 15 counties were ordered to send draftees to Traverse City instead of Marquette for examination by the U. S. Army medical board.

Attending the conference in Marquette were Lieut. Col. J. L. Croshaw, of the Inspector General's department of the U. S. Army, who is attached to the state selective service department; Howard Kennedy, secretary to Governor Van Wagoner; and other officers representing the Army medical board and the Sixth Corps Area office in Chicago.

They conferred with members of the Marquette county draft board; representatives of St. Luke's hospital, hotel proprietors, officers of the Marquette Chamber of Commerce and Marquette physicians.

Officials Visit Hospitals

Army officials and Kennedy inspected St. Luke's hospital and also visited Marquette hotels.

Designation of Traverse City as the induction center for U. P. draftees came as a surprise to draft boards in this region and trustees and staff of St. Luke's hospital, facilities of which had been used by the Army medical board several months. A news dispatch from Lansing announcing the transfer said it had been decided upon "because facilities in Marquette were inadequate." Hospital trustees pointed out, however, that there would be no difficulty in handling much larger numbers of men at the hospital than had been sent there in previous months.

Marquette Centrally Located

Because Marquette is centrally located in the peninsula its draft contingents, traveled short distances to get there, whereas mileage to Traverse City from most U. P. counties is much greater. Furthermore, according to present regulations, all draftees accepted for army service will be sent home on a 14-day furlough before being called to duty. Under that plan the mileage traveled by draftees at government expense would be doubled.

St. Luke's trustees reported that members of the army medical board, during the months they visited Marquette, expressed satisfaction with facilities at the hospital and Chamber of Commerce officers declared hotel accommodations had been adequate.

A few days ago Rep. Frank E. Hook, of Ironwood, in a letter to Major General Grunert, commander of the Sixth Corps area, criticized the transfer to Traverse City as a waste of taxpayers' money and urged that Marquette be redesignated as the induction center.

June Beatson, Norman Knutsen Wed on June 15

Miss June Beatson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beatson of Spalding, and Norman O. Knutsen, of Gladstone, were united in marriage at a ceremony which took place Monday morning, June 15, at Spalding.

The marriage service was solemnized at 11 o'clock by Rev. Fr. F. A. Seifert.

The processional of tradition, "Bridal Chorus" from Wagner's "Lohengrin" was played by Mrs. W. B. Fisher, sister of the bride, with violin obbligato by Mr. Fisher.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Myrtle Beatson, and George Perrin served as Mr. Knutsen's best man.

The bride was gowned in a lovely model of white mousseline de soi, with which she wore a fingertip veil gathered to a halo of orange blossoms. Her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom, and she carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and white snapdragons. Her bridesmaid wore brocaded pink organdie and her flowers were pink roses and pink snapdragons with a touch of blue.

Mrs. Beatson were a navy blue sheer with a corsage of pink carnations and snapdragons.

A wedding breakfast, with covers for thirty guests, was served at the home of the bride's parents, and a reception for seventy-five guests was held from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock. A three-tiered wedding cake of all white, decorated with natural rosebuds centered the appointments, for the breakfast, and pink snapdragons were artistically arranged to form a color theme of pink and white.

Mr. Knutsen and his bride left on a honeymoon trip through Wisconsin and Illinois, the bride's traveling costume, a luggage linen suit with beige accessories. They will make their home in Gladstone.

The bride, a graduate of Ferris Institute, has been employed by the Farm Security Administration in Iron Mountain. Mr. Knutsen is owner and operator of the Gladstone Bakery.

Guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Carl Knutsen and Mrs. Sophie Carlson of Menominee, Miss Violet Knutsen and Mrs. Myrtle Wolon, of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Alie Knutsen and son, of Gladstone, Mr. and Mrs. James Knutsen of Gary, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Carl Knutsen and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. H. # Air-Sea Battles Seen Spurring Navy To Huge Carrier Program

Symbol of naval revolution is the aircraft carrier—looming as the new spearhead of the Fleet.

BY THOMAS M. JOHNSON
NEA Service Military Writer

Washington—"What we need to win this war is a hundred and fifty aircraft carriers," exploded a naval officer back from the Far East.

Before Pearl Harbor the battleship admirals would have snorted in derision. But the battles of Midway and the Coral Sea have shown that the war in the Pacific is today largely a carrier war.

The Navy has put air-going sailors on the bridge, and their imaginations soar unfettered even up to drawing-board talk of a flying carrier, a dirigible, towing planes through the air.

That may actually come, someday. Meanwhile, January 1 will surely see the Navy nearer 150 carriers than seemed possible a few months ago. Congress will soon vote a big new program to free the seagull's wings.

The Navy is quietly undergoing a revolution in tactical doctrine toward air-power which is projected over the high seas by carrier much farther than the biggest shell is projected by gunfire.

* * *

CARRIER REPLACING BATTLESHIP

Although it is now pretty generally considered that the Midway victory was due largely to land-based Army bombers, still it clinched the value of the naval bombing plane, as demonstrated in the Coral Sea. These air-sea battles of unprecedented nature are vital in naval history. Our fast carriers, with good warning devices, proved less vulnerable than expected to air bombing, certainly less than slow battleships. The first-hand facts, brought back by naval flying officers for the President, Admiral King and key Congressmen, are having an effect as explosive as an aerial torpedo.

The carrier is in many ways taking the place of the battleship as spearhead of the fleet. The Navy's vast shipbuilding program is being reshuffled to bring the new trumps uppermost.

Not "battle-wagons" but "covered wagons" get the center of the road, if only to catch up with Japan whose carriers are more varied than ours and were twice as numerous before Midway.

If they lost three sunk, or even one sunk and two damaged, this was a highly important result for the tactics of the American task force—to knock out their carriers. For all their carrier casualties save one were big carriers, and even though one of ours was damaged, the balance is tilted our way.

Officially, we have with the Fleet seven big 78-120 plane carriers, plus the first few of an ultimate thirty-odd cargo ships now being converted to 15-30 plane carriers. The Navy confesses nearly a score more big ones in the works.

Big carriers are needed for striking forces to bomb Japanese invasion fleets threatening Australia or other coasts, and later Japanese battleships and cities.

Smaller carriers are needed for convoying ships bearing the cargoes now piling up, especially in Caribbean ports. Means of mass producing small carriers are now being studied.

We are learning how better to protect carriers, but they still need to be screened by other ships, so we are building more cruisers and destroyers fast and nimble enough to dodge bombs and torpedoes.

* * *

BATTLESHIPS ARE STILL NECESSARY

Old salts are astounded at how naval construction and planning are swerving toward air-power. Keels that were laid for some of the 15 battleships now building, will cut the water as keels of carriers. But not all.

We must have surface warships so long as there are surface merchant ships to protect or sink; we must have surface battleships so long as the enemy has them. And today Japan has built or building, fourteen, including some new giants.

The American battleship now looming through the spindrift of the near future will be powerful but very fast, carrying many anti-aircraft guns and some long-range rifles, and not three planes, but perhaps thirty. It really will be a carrier-battleship.

To evolve the new air-sea power means changes unequalled since not only the Dreadnought and the Monitor, but even the momentous naval revolution caused by the introduction of steam. As in their day, change has been resisted by a few swivel-chair brass-hats. They have lost.

The Navy will soon announce full details of a reorganization in which its patient, veteran Chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics, Rear Admiral John H. Towers, rises from a post technically rather subordinate, to Vice Admiral, Assistant Chief of Naval Operations (Air).

* * *

NAVY STARTS "AIR-CONDITIONING"

There will be more changes such as establishment of new big training centers for an increasing influx of air cadets.

For the moment, this so-called "air-conditioning" of the Navy catches it at something of a disadvantage, which was lessened, but by no means canceled by the Japanese losses at Midway. It has too few carriers, especially too few smaller ones; too few of some types of planes, too many of others; far too many battleships that, because of age, slowness or other defects, are vulnerable to air attack.

But this country has the youth, the brains and the industry to adjust quickly. We can do it—yet we must hurry, for never in our history has time been so precious.

Former Resident Of Harris, Is Stricken

Mrs. Napoleon Nault Piche, 82, former resident of Harris, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edna Rocheleau, at Coleman, Wis on Tuesday, June 16.

She was born April 5, 1860, at Ishpeming and lived in Harris until 1908, moving then to Marinette and Coleman.

The Naults lived at one time on the Maurice Flynn farm, one and a half miles east of Harris, which they owned and operated.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Eva LaBranche of Marquette and Mrs. Rocheleau, and two sons, Theodore, of Portland, Ore., and John, of Marinette. Mr. Nault died at Harris thirty-five years ago, and a brother, John Badger, passed away at Wilson several years ago.

Funeral services will be held at a solemn requiem high mass at St. John's church at Coleman, at eight o'clock Friday morning. Following the service, the funeral cars will leave for Bark River, where burial rites will be conducted at the Bark River cemetery at 11 o'clock. Rev. Fr. A. J. Therian will officiate.

American Indians, old hands at drying foods by primitive methods, are helping Department of Agriculture scientists develop new and improved ways of food dehydration for war-time use.

Yes, Prices HAVE Stopped Rising . . . But

many people are still in doubt about the exact meaning of price-freezing. ● It does not mean that prices are exactly the same everywhere. ● It does mean that prices in each store are fixed at the levels which prevailed in that store at a given time. Find out where prices have been fixed at the most reasonable levels. The need for thrift compels every American to buy where he can get the most value for his money.

NO SHORTAGE IN TEACHING STAFF

Only Few Changes Here Next Fall, Sup't Reports

An anticipated shortage of teachers in Michigan schools, indicated in an announcement from the Michigan Department of Public Instruction, will not affect the Escanaba public schools, Supt. John A. Lemmer has announced.

Most of the vacancies created by resignations or other causes have already been filled and numerous applications are on hand to fill the remaining positions.

The turnover in teaching personnel in the local schools this year is extremely low, on the basis of present indications.

Teachers Leave System

Teachers who are leaving the Escanaba school system this year include the following: Sirkka Bassi, kindergarten; Florence Eastwood, first grade, retired; Denise Quinlan, on leave to study at the University of Minnesota; Dorothy Cox, Dorothy Rose, Helen Tracy Macek, oral deaf instructor; Evelyn Merritt, orthopedic instructor; Irene Pippel, commercial teacher, and Muriel Skinner Robbins, home economics teacher.

New teachers include Peggy Juel, kindergarten teacher, U. of Minnesota; Betty Ungerman, first grade, U. of Minnesota; Vendela Sundquist, elementary teacher returning following a year's leave of absence to study at Western Michigan; Blanche Heffron, Milwaukee, oral deaf teacher; Beatrice White, Stout Institute, home economics. Eva Flemstrom, who has been teaching first grade, will be transferred to the orthopedic class. She will take special training this summer at Michigan State Normal in Ypsilanti.

More Changes Probable

One or two other changes are probable before school opens in the fall, the superintendent indicated.

Physio therapy training under the direction of Harriet Rask will be continued throughout the summer. The physio-therapy room is being moved from its present location in the Junior high school building to another room which will eliminate the necessity of climbing stairs and will also materially reduce the long walk along the corridors.

The expense of making this change is made possible by funds received from the sale of Easter seals and from the President's Birthday Ball receipts. Provisions for hydro therapy may also be made in connection with this program.

Because of a decrease in enrollment in the elementary grades, the teaching staff will be reduced by two elementary teachers, Mr. Lemmer reported.

The contracts for the national defense classes now being conducted at the Gafner Machine Shop and the Groos Machine Shop will expire June 30, but it is planned to renew the contracts with the possible exception of the welding class. Difficulty is experienced in the securing of necessary welding rods for the program. One of the new classes, however, will be designed for recent high school graduates.

WINS GOLF TROPHY

Menominee, Mich.—Menominee Rotarians won the Twin City Rotary golf championship yesterday afternoon at a joint meeting and outing at Riverside Country Club.

A silver cup, purchased by the clubs to be presented annually to the golf champion, was presented to the Menominee team and will remain on this side of the river until next year's match.

F. X. St. Peter of Menominee and Ralph Skidmore of Marinette were in charge of the tournament.

During 1939, Montana had a tuberculosis death rate of 43.4 per 100,000 of its population.

Msgr. Joseph L. Zryd to volunteer their services for remodeling the old dormitory building, which is being reconstructed for use as a church.

Father Zryd's letter to the parishioners in North Marquette follows, in part:

DELTA ALIENS OBTAIN PAPERS

53 Persons Are Granted Citizenship At Hearings

Fifty-three Delta county residents were granted American citizenship at naturalization hearings held yesterday at the court house, which were conducted by R. W. Gearing, Sault Ste. Marie, naturalization examiner.

A short program was presented in connection with the granting of the citizenship petitions, which included a vocal solo, America I Love You by Patsy Ammel, and a vocal solo, America, The Beautiful, sung by Anita Ammel. Both girls are pupils of Mrs. Edward Lucas.

Silk American flags were presented to each person granted citizenship by the D.A.R. They were accompanied by a flag card, containing the Pledge of Allegiance and The American Creed.

Following is the list of persons whose citizenship petitions were granted: Joseph Pintal, August Kivela, Maija Niemi, Lorna Smith, Marie Bennett, Peter Gingras, Noe Carigan, Olof Wallin, John Hill, John Skoglund, Marie Johnson, Anna Bloniarz, Catherine Luchay, John Snell, Julie Honberg, Teodozya Kiefasz, Ernest Mattonen, Harriet Reese, Edward Boissineau, Miho Bosnjak, Bertha Golobich, Frans West, John Kulju, Isak Leino, Ida Kulkki.

Two petitions out of the 55 applying were denied, and six were continued for the following reasons: One was absent, one could not produce his draft card, two were alien enemies, one for lack of knowledge of the government and one because of failure of deposition of witnesses to arrive in time for the hearing.

OBJECT TO PAY SCALE

Iron River—Whether to throw out the salary schedule for the Iron River township schools in order to give six teachers with two-year college certificates a chance at a higher range in pay or leave the schedule as it stands presented a knotty problem to the board of education at its regular monthly meeting last night.

A letter from six teachers on the two-year basis brought the matter to the fore. The six teachers who signed the letter are Katherine Scott, Walter Gendzwill, Margaret White, Edna Falk, Jeanette Hunter and Judith N. Flanagan.

BY BERNARD S. O'HARA

New York, June 17 (AP)—The stock market today took on a semblance of its best form of the last month or so by registering gains ranging from fractions to 2 or more points.

It was a slow rise with a few flourishes near the close as certain blue chips were marked up sharply. Brokers reported a fair part of the demand came from investment accounts.

Early caution, reflecting a desire on the part of market followers to wait out the results of the heavy engagements in Libya and on the Russian fronts, seemed to disappear as selling tapered to a trickle.

Some confidence was infused in the late proceedings by the Washington reports that Donald Nelson had urged Chairman Doughton of the house ways and means committee to consider an excess profits tax for corporations less drastic than the 94 per cent levy proposed by the committee.

Appearing on the tape for the first time just before the finish Dow Chemical jumped 3 3-8 and Douglas Aircraft 2½. Other leaders ahead one to around 3 were Eastman Kodak, United Aircraft, Allied Chemical, Du Pont, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, American Telephone, Standard Oil (N. J.), and Homestake Mining.

New York, June 17 (AP)—A late upturn in the bond market put most rails fractionally higher at the close, numerous utility and industrial issues sharing in the rise.

As prices firmed volume increased to the best in nearly two weeks at $6,112,000, face value, compared with $4,910,500 Tuesday.

Wabash 4¼s, on a when issued basis, rose 1 3-8 at 34¼ to lead the parade of rails. Other gainers in moderate volume included Missouri Pacific "F" 5s of '77 at 26 3-8, up ¼; Delaware & Hudson refunding 4s at 54 7-8, up ¼; New Haven 4½s at 32½, up ½, and Baltimore & Ohio stamped convertibles at 19 1-8, up ¼.

Portland Gas & Electric 4½s rose ½ at 85 and International Hydro Electric 6s were ahead a point at 28¾ among utilities.

Northern Pacific 4s lost 5-8 at 69 1-8 and Western Union 5s slipped ¼ to 78¼, while a few relatively inactive issues showed wider losses in a handful of sales.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, June 17 (AP)—Grain prices continued to rise today but with less vigor than yesterday until the last few minutes of trading when a burst of short covering put wheat up to highs since May 25.

Soybeans showed more strength than did cereals throughout the session, being up more than a cent early and later showing net gains of almost 3 cents, July contracts reaching $1.79¼, highest since May 29.

The late upturn in beans stimulated short covering in wheat, which closed 3-4 to 1 cent higher than yesterday, July $1.21 1-8, September $1.23 3-4 to $1.23 5-8. Corn finished 3-8 to ½ up, July 87 to 87 1-8, September 89 3-4; oats 3-8 to ½ up; rye ½ to 5-8 higher and soybeans 1¼ to 2 7-8 higher.

Reports of improved flour demand as a result of yesterday's price rise helped wheat while there was further follow up buying based on Washington rumors of a posible compromise between the farm bloc and administration involving higher loan rates for basic crops and congressional approval of government wheat sales for feed at prices below parity.

Garden

Fire

Garden, Mich.—Shortly after noon Tuesday, fire broke out in the granary on the farm owned by Fred Beach of Chicago. This was the old Trounsell farm, south of town, and located on Garden Bay. A brooder was in operation and contained 100 chicks, received the day before. It is thought that this caused the blaze. The dwelling house is only a few feet to the west of this building and as an east wind was blowing, the roof caught fire and half of it was blazing before the local fire engine could get hooked up to the water supply. The shed was totally destroyed but the flames were extinguished before the main structure was enveloped. Mrs. Beach, who teaches in Chicago, had not yet arrived, but guests were already here to spend the summer.

A ball was arranged for Saturday night June 20 in the Community hall, when card games and old time dancing will be the diversions, local talent to provide the music.

HUNTER UNDER SUSPICION

CHAPTER VIII

When Hunter Dent came to himself he was lying on a cot. The rough wool blanket was not woven in any of the local perfume or cosmetic plants. The walls were bleak and narrow. There was a steady pour of rain outside. Hunter ached in various parts of his body. The chief local pain was in his head. He groped at it tentatively, trying hard to remember. He seemed to be crudely but competently bandaged. He tried to sit up. He did not like the color of the night about him. It wasn't exactly rural darkness, and it was not the bright lights of Middleton's social life.

It came to Hunter slowly that he was in jail. He sat up. He got to unsteady legs and crossed the floor. He was in a cell, all right. He was in jail. He remembered more and more, how he had opened the safe to make sure about the money; how he had been set on by rascals lurking in his office. It must have been Neal Frazier, and the rest of them, after knocking him out, had brought him to town and lodged him here.

A brown Negro, evidently the night clerk of this public hostelry, came at his wild howls. "I is Shady," the colored man stated, not without deference. "You is Mr. Hunter Dent, isn't you?"

"Unlock this door and let me out of here!"

"I couldn't do dat, Mr. Dent. She'ff Anderson he say if you comes to and is hurting to look after you, but alongside of dat I is to keep you locked up. Is you hurting nowhurs, Mr. Dent?"

No use venting his wrath on the jailor, who was merely doing his duty. "Nowhurs," he growled. Hunter went back, lay down, tried hard to relax. He grew quiet after a while and fell asleep. It was broad day and still raining when he waked. He felt refreshed. But gloom quickly settled back on him. He had breakfast, and Sheriff Anderson then took him to his office.

"Frazier, and the other boys, fetched you in late last night, Dent."

"Sweet of 'em," Dent grumbled. "What am I charged with?"

"Robbery, murder, resisting arrest, and a few things like that. What have you to say for yourself?"

"I decline to talk, Sheriff. I want a lawyer."

"I reckon that's your constitutional right. But let's get down to this matter. I'm frankly puzzled. Those boys out there at Ballard's have a pretty good case against you. I've been talking to Strick Ballard and he will be here to see you in a few minutes. It seems as if you made certain threats against him. You and Mr. Ballard had a row about some seed corn, and maybe a fine walking horse—is that right?

"I stand on my constitutional right not to answer questions until I have had a chance to consult my lawyer."

"Who is your lawyer?"

"Tracy Hannings. Will you call him for me?"

* * *

Anderson looked up the number and dialed it. "Hunter Dent is here with me, Hannings. This is Sheriff Anderson. He asks you to come over as quick as you can. Okay. Thanks." He hung up, turned back to Hunter.

"Now, look here, Dent. You might as well come clean. We've gone over this whole business. You're mixed in that stick-up. Either you took part in it, or you were an accessory before the fact, or you are shielding the ones who did the trick. I'm your friend. I could treat you as a rascal and give you the third degree, and make you come clean. Maybe I'll do that yet, but only after I have given you every chance in the world.

"You listen carefully now while I reconstruct this whole business. There's a pretty wild bunch of youngsters that gather out at Ballard's country home. That redhead of Ballard's; the boy Temple, the banker's son; the twins; the girls that sing over the radio; Mrs. Ballard's brother, and several others. Good deal of gambling goes on, too, eh?"

"I don't keep up with them," Hunter said.

"Sure, you do. You know it, so do I; so do plenty of others. Drinking, gaming, dancing. Wild, yes; but nothing so terrible, at that. War does things to young people. You can't raise 'em up to shoot each other and kick too much when they are willing to lose their shirts at strip poker. But getting back. You don't run with them, no; but now and then you watch, maybe, and pick up things. Now, it's my theory that the leak of money movement was through young Hank Temple. He works in his dad's bank. He would know, perhaps make up the shipment, put it in a bag, give it to the messenger. You heard him say something indiscreet. All right, you got a partner, perhaps two, and went after the thing. You and Ballard did have a row, didn't you?"

"I'm still not talking," Hunter said.

"Well, what started out to be a lark—to put it mildly—got down to something deadly earnest. You had to do some shooting. You had to make your get-away in your car. We know the car was parked not far from the scene. Let me show you." He produced two bromide enlargements. "This is a print of the tread of the car in the road at the back of the estate. Here is a picture of the tread of your car. See? The same, eh? You did admit you are the only one with a key to that iron gate; that the car was yours. Miss Ballard heard you, so did the constable out there. It is known that you were not in the place where you sleep nights that night. We have that on authority that can't be impeached. So you were absent, you have a grouch, you probably have the money. Come on now and tell me the truth, and let's work this out so it will be as easy on you as we can make it. I'm your friend, Dent."

"You told me that before."

"All right, where is the money?"

"I wish I knew. How is Junior Ballard?"

"Barely alive."

A car drew up in front of the jail. Strickland Ballard came in. He looked at the two men. "Hello, Anderson."

"Howdy, Mr. Ballard."

"Hello, Dent."

Hunter barely nodded. Ballard asked, "Could I talk to the young man privately, Sheriff?"

"Come back to his cell." Anderson led the way, locked the two up.

Ballard began to bluster.

"We have your number, Dent! Everything leads to one conclusion. You shrewdly staged a trick to discredit my folks. You may not have intended going as far as you did. It seems incredible you would stoop to robbery and murder. The chain of evidence is rapidly forging around you. I am working with the authorities in every way possible. Much as I should regret seeing you go to prison or the chair, I nevertheless must put aside all personal felings in the interests of justice and human rights. I shudder at how I trusted my son and daughter to your care as if you were an older brother. I must say I am glad we discovered your true character before you had time to get thoroughly ingratiated into—well—er—putting it bluntly, married into the family."

* * *

The bluster seemed to go quickly out of Ballard as Hunter sat there watching him, a cynical smile playing at his lips.

"How is Junior? Do the doctors hold out any hope?"

Ballard became more years than his 50; he shrank into a haunted, haggard man whose conscience tormented him that he had not been a wiser and better father. He slowly shook his head. "It will be two or three days before the crisis. Until then we can only watch and pray."

"You'd better have been doing your watching and praying earlier," Hunter said. When the harried man turned to look at him, sensing Hunter's deeper meaning, Hunter said, "If you came here in the hope, or on the stray chance, that you would maybe shield your son in some way—well, all I have to say is that you'd better start shuddering at my true character, for maybe when I get through telling all I know and a lot you don't know, justice and human rights that you announce your reverence for will really get a serving!"

Anderson came down the hall. "Telephone call for Mr. Ballard. Call for Dent, too."

SHORT COURT SESSION ENDS

Five Cases Continued for Sentence By Circuit Judge

The June term of Schoolcraft county circuit court was recessed here Tuesday until June 26 when the petitions of 17 people for citizenship will be heard by Judge Herbert W. Runnels. The hearing of the court calendar took little time during this session since the court, which convened Monday afternoon, recessed Tuesday.

Five cases were continued for sentence during the term. Sentencing of Harold Pizzala, Jacob Anthony and William R. Stewart, all charged with desertion, was again continued. No action was taken on the case of Ray Norberg, also charged with desertion, whose case has previously been continued for sentence. Jack Sangraw, who was arraigned April 17, 1942, for taking a motor vehicle without consent and without intent to steal and whose case was previously continued for sentence, was released on his own recognizance. His case is still continued for sentence.

The charge of bastardy against Russell Paquette may be heard here on June 27, after Judge Runnels has concluded the hearing on citizenship applications. In the case of William E. Lang, an appeal from justice court on a game violation charge, continuation was made to the September term for trial.

No action was taken in the civil suit of Joseph St. John vs. Elmer T. Lundstrom, doing business as the Lundstrom Chevrolet Co. A motion for security for cost was scheduled on the calendar for that case.

JOHN A. FALK ENDS BUSINESS

Early Resident of Town Sells Stock, Retires From Hardware

JOHN A. FALK

The years have dealt kindly with John M. Falk, 78 year old pioneer Manistique merchant. He's had a busy life as he helped America, the Upper Peninsula and Manistique develop and build themselves. And just the other day, with almost 50 years spent in Manistique, he closed up his hardware at 207 Deer street on the Westside, sold his stock and retired from business.

John Falk was only 18 when he left his native Sweden, where he had been born in Dalsland on February 6, 1864. He came to the United States to begin life in the new world. He went to work constructing railroads in the states of New York and Pennsylvania for some months and then left the eastern states to come to Manistique in Seytember, 1882, a trifle less than a half a century ago.

Schoolcraft county's census for 1880, a few years before Mr. Falk came here, listed only 1,574 persons in the entire area. The county seat had just been moved to Manistique after Onota burned in 1880, and the first newspaper was in its second or third year of existence in Manistique when he arrived.

Mr. Falk saw the area here become the village of Manistique in 1883 and in 1900 become the city of Manistique. His first work was in the Chicago Lumber company mill but he was ambitious and in 1885 went to work in the company store. He wanted more education, however, and after five years he left the store to go to a Chicago business college.

The territory called again when he finished his studies and back he came as a scaler for the lumber company. After a season he was back in the store as a clerk and July 1, 1895, he went into business for himself. The first firm he was associated with was Falk and Anderson, grocers. In 1899 he bought an interest in another grocery firm and then purchased the entire business, which was in the structure he had occupied ever since. Hardware, paint, oils, feed, grain and hay were added to the lines carried in the store.

After the first World War he retired from the grocery and hardware business for five years and then reopened his store handling business for -fqa. ) ling hardware and allied products only. During the past winter he was confined to his home by illness and the store was closed for a time. His decision to retire from business followed. Stock in his store was sold to the C-L Hardware.

Mr. Falk is a former member of the Bethel Baptist church.

He took an active part in civic affairs until recent years and at various times served as village clerk, member of the city council, member of the board of public works, treasurer of Manistique township, member of the city school board, and as a director of the First National Bank.

Mr. and Mrs. Falk reside at 207 Deer street and their daughter, Elizabeth, an instructor in the Manistique high school, lives with them. Mr. Falk, who looks much younger than his 78 years, now plans to rest.

Mrs. Chester Dixon and children have returned home from Detroit after spending the past four weeks there with Mr. Dixon, who is employed there and with Mrs. Dixon's mother, Mrs. Levia Osterhout.

RUBBER DRIVE IS UNDER WAY

Mayor Richardson Urges Cooperation of All Residents

Full cooperation in the scrap rubber survey and collection which has been started is urged in Gladstone by Mayor J. F. Richardson.

Every Gladstone resident is requested by Mayor Richardson to make a survey of their home and property to unearth rubber which is no longer useful to the owner but which will prove valuable for purposes of reuse.

Such rubber as found should be taken to any filling station where it may be contributed or the owner will be paid at the rate of one cent per pound.

If it is impossible to take the rubber to one of the collection points, the party has only to phone 2631 and a city truck will be dispatcher to collect the allotment.

A considerable amount is already pouring in at the local filling stations and several large loads have been brought to the Theisen - Clemens bulk gasoline plant at Kipling which will be one of the storage points.

Rubber of all kinds may be turned in. Included are tires, water bottles, sink stoppers, bicycle grips, bathing caps, jar rings, rubber covered wire, garden hose, door mats, stair treads, rubber gloves, sponges, rubber-tired ash trays, sponge seats, inner tubes, balls, toys and sponges.

The drive will continue until June 30.

A telegram received by the mayor from Governor Murray D. VanWagoner follows in part:

"Urge * * * calling upon all citizens to participate in two week rubber collection drive and that you take other necessary steps including a campaign in municipal buildings and DPW yards to insure complete success of this program which seeks to avoid need for gasoline rationing.

A Proclamation

Whereas, Our President has called upon citizens of this nation to assist and cooperate in the rubber survey and reclamation project which has been undertaken by the government;

And Whereas, the need of rubber in the manufacture of war material is urgent and unless sufficient is turned in during the survey it may be necessary to ration gasoline throughout the entire nation in order to conserve tires;

And Whereas, the turning in of used rubber at the present time is a definite benefit both to your nation, your fellowman and yourself.

Now Therefore, I urge every Gladstone resident to make a survey of their property and take whatever rubber they may find to one of the collection points.

Signed:
J. F. Richardson,
Mayor of Gladstone.

Inland Donates A Carload Of Scrap Rubber To Drive

The Ogles, Ed and Bob, of Marquette have formally entered the Roleo. The father, Ed, is an old river driver helping bring down the pine in the spring on the Flambeau river in Wisconsin, Cloquet in Minnesota and Manistique in the Upper Peninsula.

He and his three sons competed in the Roleo at Escanaba in 1938 and last year he and his son Robert competed in Gladstone, winning 3rd and 4th in the consolation event.

This year, two of Ogle's sons, Stanley and Billy, both birlers, are with the United States Air Corps in foreign service. Three of Ogle's sons, however, will still be in the Roleo, two of them competing in the junior event.

Dizzy Trout Hurls Tigers To 1-0 Victory Over New York Yanks

HARRIS BREAKS PITCHING DUEL

Detroit Takes 2-1 Lead In Series With Champs

Detroit, June 17 (AP)—With the bases loaded and two out in the ninth inning, Rookie Ned Harris smashed a single to center field today to give the Detroit Tigers a 1 to 0 victory over the world champion New York Yankees and a 2 to 1 edge in the series that ends tomorrow.

Harris, providing a dramatic ending to a tight pitching duel by driving Billy Hitchcock across the plate, gave Paul (Dizzy) Trout his first victory since May 1 and his fourth of the season against six defeats. Victim of the clutch blow was Marvin Breuer, who for eight innings had limited Detroit to three singles.

Trout scattered five hits, permitting only one Yankee to pass second base, and the shutout was the first achieved against the champions this season.

Detroit's winning rally started after Trout had fanned to open the ninth. Hitchcock singled to right for his second hit of the game and Barney McCosky scratched a single off Frankie Crosetti's glove. Both advanced while Roger Cramer grounded out, and Breuer purposely passed Rudy York, filling the bases, and bringing up Harris, who a week ago belted a three-run homer in the eleventh to beat the Yankees.

In Trouble Once

This time he needed only a single, and he drove it cleanly over second base.

After the first inning the Yanks never seriously threatened Trout. Buddy Hassett singled with one out, moved up on an infield out and took third when Pinky Higgins booted Joe DiMaggio's roller. But Trout induced Charley Keller to line to McCosky to end the inning.

In the sixth Crosetti opened with a single but was erased in a double play. The other three hits, including Joe Gordon's double in the seventh, came with two out and the dizzy one promptly got the third.

Breuer, who finally was charged with his fifth defeat against two victories, breezed along even better until the big ninth. Birdie Tebbetts singled in the third, and clustered singles in the sixth with Hitchcock before McCosky grounded into a double play. That constituted the Tiger attack until the blowoff.

The victory gave the Tigers a 5 to 4 edge over New York in their season series. Virgil (Fire) Trucks will face the Yankees for the first time tomorrow, opposing Spud Chandler.

Tigers Will Lose Pitcher, Catcher

Detroit, June 17 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers learned today that a battery combination—Pitcher Hal Newhouser and Catcher George (Birdie) Tebbetts—probably will be in the army within a month.

Newhouser, 21 years old and recently married, passed his physical examination today at draft headquarters and indicated that he would enlist soon. Tebbetts, who recently applied for a commission in the army air corps, said he would enlist in some branch of the service if not called by July 9, when the Tigers start their next Eastern road trip. He is 27 and unmarried but has been classified in 3-A because of dependencies.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

Michigan sportsmen attending the annual convention of the United Conservation Clubs next weekend are expected to start action designed to give the state conservation commission power to fix hunting and fishing seasons and bag limits, authority now held by the state legislature. A uniform state-wide policy on Sunday hunting also will be up for discussion. At present some counties are closed to Sunday shooting and others are open.

Sportsmen of Michigan are well organized with the local conservation clubs spread throughout the state being welded into sectional associations, which are in turn very much vocal through the medium of the annual convention of the Michigan united conservation clubs. The conservation clubs have proved of immense service to the state because of the keen interest they have taken in conservation matters. They are the protectors of the little fellow's rights in public hunting and fishing problems.

Cornelius Warmerdam may never achieve the 16 foot vault which has been a cherished ambition of his. He had his 'cue Tuesday night in the annual Pacific coast-Big Ten dual meet at Evanston, where Warmerdam appeared in an exhibition. The Flying Dutchmen, who has vaulted over 15 feet no less than 24 times in actual competition, cleared only 14 feet, 2 inches at Evanston. A special 150 foot runway was built for him and he had planned to use a new grip which places his hands 13 feet, 10 inches from the bottom of the pole. A leg injury bothered him, however, and threw him off stride. He may call it quits after the national AAU meet in New York this weekend.

A fisherman at Lake Gogebic the other evening tossed every lure in his bait box at the wily pike but failed to get a strike. Near the shore he saw a fish jump repeatedly at a log, so he rowed over to investigate. He lifted the deadhead and saw a yellow plug and leader on the log. He used the bait and landed two beauties in short order. Lake Gogebic, one of the peninsula's outstanding pike lakes, has provided consistently good fishing this spring, particularly during the twilight hours.

The game of tennis probably will keep going during the war period despite the fact that there will be no new balls manufactured for the duration. Reclaimed rubber is being used in the manufacture of "ersatz" balls which have proved very satisfactory. The average player cannot tell the difference between tennis balls made of pure crude rubber and the ersatz balls made of reclaimed rubber. The government's rubber salvage campaign may eventually put a crimp in the manufacture of the substitutes, but the amount of rubber used is not considerable.

Hale America Tournament Starts Today In Chicago

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY

Chicago, June 17 (AP)—The Hale America national open golf championship will open at Ridgemoor country club tomorrow with 107 of the nation's finest professionals and amateurs blazing away in a patriotic cause of raising $200,000 for navy relief and the United Service Organization.

Single 18-hole rounds will be played for four days, winding up in the twilight Sunday. Officials are counting on a total attendance of 50,000.

Bright Field

The "Hale" replaces the annual open tournament conducted by the United States Golf Association, which has cancelled all its tournaments for the duration. However, the USGA is a co-sponsor of tomorrow's tournament with the Chicago District Golf Association and the Professional Golfers Association.

The field, one of the brightest ever brought together, includes the reigning open champion, Craig Wood; Capt. Robert T. Jones, one time emperor of the fairways; Sergt. Jim Turnesa, runner-up to Sam Snead in the 1942 PGA championship; Byron Ntlson, Ben Hogan, Lawson Little, Lloyd Mangrum, Dick Metz, Harry Cooper and a host of others who figure in the chances of winning the 72-hole test.

The professionals will be playing for a total of $6,000 in prizes, a portion of which will be distributed in war bonds.

The final practice warm-ups this afternoon were climaxed by an 18-hole exhibition match between Jones, the famed Georgian, and Bob Hope of radio, screen and stage fame. Hope, flying from a radio engagement in New London, Conn., last night, was two hours late in arriving and he did not get underway before a gallery of 500 until late in the afternoon.

Rod Munday, a Toledo, O., prof., and Henry Picard of Oklahoma City, conquered the course today, each with a 66, six under par, in their practice rounds. Johnny Dawson and Harry Cooper fashioned 69's, while Frank Commisso, Rochester, N. Y., pro, and Ben Hogan's posted 68's. Turnesa had a 71. Munday and Picard fashioned their cards with five one-putt greens, giving credence to the belief that the strokes on the tricky greens will play an all-important part in deciding the championship.

Michigan has an eight-player delegation in the tournament, including Gib Sellers, state open champion from Detroit, who moved up as first alternate when Al Watrous withdrew. The others are Walter Hagen and Jimmy Demaret, who qualified automatically, and five qualifiers in recent Detroit trials—Marvin Strahl of Lansing, and Ed Furgol, Jimmy Johnson, Frank Connolly and Joe Belfore, all of Detroit.

Athletics Move Into Sixth Place

Chicago, June 17, (AP)—Phil Marchildon, Philadelphia Athletics' righthander who had a five-game winning streak stopped here by a 4-3 score May 16, broke a five-game losing streak by the identical figures today as the A's beat the Chicagoans to move into sixth place.

Marchildon pitched five-hit ball and was backed up by a timely nine-hit attack, principally against Johnny Humpries. The A's used six of their seven hits for all their runs during Humphries' seven innings.

Outfielder Taft Wright drove in all three Chicago runs, singling in two after Wally Moses' triple was followed by one of Marchildon's six passes and nudging the other across on a grounder in the eighth after a pass and Don Kolloway's single.

Breadon Juggles Redbirds and Nice Profit Is Result

BY WHITNEY MARTIN
Wide World Sports Columnist

New York, June 17—It gave us quite a start to read the headline a couple of days ago: "Cards buy Narron, catcher," as we couldn't remember when the St. Louis club ever bought anyone, not mention Narron, a catcher.

However, it turned out the Cards had bought Sam Narron, a catcher, from Rochester, which is the same as taking loose change out of one pocket and putting it in another in that Rochester is a St. Louis farm. A little juggling of the books should take care of the deal nicely.

Which bring us around to Sam Breadon, the genial and sensitive owner of the Cardinals and their scattered acreages. Mr. Breadon often is deeply hurt by criticism of his tactics, which usually mean the sale of good players, which means making money, which is the goal of a club owner. In other words, Mr. Breadon is a success.

He takes great pains to justify his operations of his properties, and there isn't any rebuttal to his arguments, at that. He has winning clubs, operating at a profit, and if the fans criticize him for selling a star at a nice profit, it must be remembered that such deals enable him to carry on in the smallest population area in the major leagues (Mr. Breadon's own figures), and the criticizing fans wouldn't have to share the losses that might result from failuse to sell at peak market.

Pertinent Facts

Mr. Breadon wrote us at length last year after we had penned a piece suggesting that the sale of stars possibly had something to do with the corner-lot attendance at the home games. It was a very enlightening letter and we lined up on Mr. Breadon's side right away.

In a recent letter to J. Roy Stockton, St. Louis baseball writer, answering other criticism Mr. Breadon brings out some pertinent facts.

In the first place, he discloses that when he became president of the Cardinals the club was several hundred thousand dollars in debt, and that he sold the Cardinal park and made a deal to use Sportsman's park in an effort to raise money. The average attendance for several years before the first World War was less than 300,000, not enough to meet expenses.

He then points out that in six years, from 1925 to 1931, the club won four pennants, and the profits enabled him to invest in minor clubs and parks. The development of players on these farms, he adds, enabled the Cards to compete with the National league clubs in the large population centers. Two million dollars was thus invested during the period.

But his most pertinent point of all is his statement that St. Louis fans have been given a contending team during nearly all of the last 15 years, outranking all other National league team not only in pennants won but also in first division standings. The Cards won five pennants in the last 16 years and finished out of the first division only twice.

Figuring that the most the fans can demand is a contending team, and that Breadon consistently gives them that, they should have no kick coming just because he can see his way clear to pocket a neat profit through the sale of some star of whom they have become particularly fond.

St. Louis, June 17, (AP)—Three streaks ended today as the St. Louis Browns defeated Boston's Red Sox, 6 to 3.

Boston's consecutrve victories ended at nine, the Browns broke their 7-game losing streak and Elden Auker won his eighth game of the year after being defeated his last three times out.

George McQuinn drove in half of the Browns' tallies with a homer and single. Don Gutteridge's seventh inning error which indirectly resulted in Boston's last run was his first misplay in 181 chances. Manager Joe Cronin went in as a Boston pinch hitter in the ninth and fanned.

Reds Capture Both Ends Of Twin Bill At Boston; 4-2, 4-3

Boston, June 17, (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds ran their string of victories over the Boston Braves to nine straight today by capturing the opening game of the Bunker Hill day doubleheader, 4-2, and then coming from behind to gain a 4-3 decision in the 11-inning nightcap.

Paul Derringer gave the Braves seven hits during the opener but both of the home forces' tallies were unearned, for they were set up by Eddie Joost's wild throw in the fourth inning. The Reds collected two runs off starter Tom Earley in the first and collected another in the fourth, after which he was relieved by Johnny Hutchings.

After pulling into a 2-0 lead against Ray Starr, who gained his ninth win while out-duelling Jim Tobin, the Braves surrendered that advantage in the sixth inning, when the first four Reds hit safely.

Then Tobin retired 15 consecutive batters but, with two out in the 11th, Max Marshall singled, Frank McCormick doubled and Bertie Haas dropped a hit into left field that scored both runners. Maxie West belted Starr for his eighth homer in Boston's side of the final frame.

Bill Lee Suffers Fifth Defeat; Kirby Higbe Is Winner

Brooklyn, June 17 (AP)—Kirby Higbe suppressed the Chicago Cubs on four hits today as the Brooklyn Dodgers hammered out a 5 to 1 victory with timely thumping against Bill Lee.

The only run off Higbe was a second inning homer by Glen (Rip) Russell.

However, the Dodgers took charge in the next frame when Arky Vaughan, returning to the lineup after a lengthy siege with a muscular cold, tripled two runs across.

Dolph Camilli connected for his tenth home run of the season with one on in the eighth after Brooklyn had scored in the seventh on two singles and an infield out.

Altogether the Dodgers made seven hits, two of them, a double and a single, by Joe Medwick, extending his current batting streak to 20 games.

It was the fifth defeat for Lee, who had won eight times, and Higbe's sixth success against four losses.

Could Be Zippered In

A new non-skid metal is on the market. It stands terrific wear and tear and does not get slippery under any conditions, and so it is hoped the U. S. Mint will turn that metal into coins. The stuff they use now, for anything from a nickel to a fifty-cent piece, seems to slip out of your pocket of its own accord, upward, like the cork of an oil bottle. Of course, the money does come back many times over if it is slipped into a classified want-ad in The DAILY Press.

YOUNG CYCLIST HURT

Menominee — Jimmy Larson, 10-year-old Menominee youth who lives at 3119 Tilton street, sustained a deep gash, almost six inches long, on his right thigh Monday evening when he was knocked from the bicycle he was riding on the interstate bridge.

Ervin Mouritsen, 20, of 605 Zimmer avenue, Menominee, was driving south on the bridge and the youth was traveling north on his bicycle. At the Chandler street intersection the youth apparently failed to observe the approach of the automobile and swung to the left to turn on Chandler street. Mouritsen attempted to avoid striking the bike but crashed the rear wheel, throwing young Larson to the pavement. The vehicle did not strike the youth, officers said.

Mouritsen took the boy to St. Joseph's hospital where he was given medical attention and was discharged.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

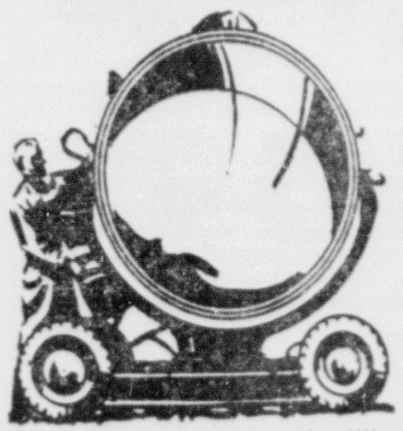
When the night bombers come over, the 60-inch lens searchlight of the anti-aircraft battery goes into action. When it does, however, we know that a good many Americans have chipped in to buy one, for these searchlights cost about $30,000 each.



They throw a beam of 800 million candlepower more than 40,000 feet, or nearly eight miles. They are the eyes of the anti-aircraft batteries. We need plenty of them. So buy War Bonds every pay day and top the quota in your county.

TAVERNS ARE WARNED

Sault Ste. Marie — Clubs and taverns in the city selling liquor to minors will be punished by having their licenses revoked, providing the person making the claim can prove such a place sold liquor to a minor, is the promise of Commissioner James W. Troyer made to city commissioners Monday night.

No official action was taken on Troyer's statement, but in the past the city commission has promised the state liquor commission full support in enforcing the state liquor laws.

Troyer said he has heard a number of complaints about liquor being sold to children, but as yet none of them has been substantiated.

"All we need is the proof, and it won't take long to put the offender out of business," said the commissioner.

NEW SULPHITE PLANT SOUGHT

Research Into Waste Is Making Progress At Appleton, Wis.

Research into the waste sulphite liquor problem has progressed sufficiently to warrant forwarding a request to the War Production board for permission to construct a semi-commercial plant for the treatment of this liquor.

The decision to enlarge present experimental facilities was made by the Technical division of the Sulphite Pulp Manufacturers' Committee on Waste disposal at a recent meeting in Appleton, Wis., where research has been in progress for two years at the Institute of Paper Chemistry.

Value of results achieved experimentally cannot be determined until operation is attempted on a scale of actual production it is pointed out. The pilot plant for which authority now is asked would cost from $10,000 to $12,000.

The research program was inaugurated by a committee of pulp manufacturers, working with the state board of health and the state committee on stream pollution. Undertaken as a cooperative measure by producers of about 90 per cent of the sulphite pulp in the United States, tentative plans provide for a five-year intensive investigation of existing processes, and possible development of new ones.

Sulphite liquor is the waste from the sulphite process of pulpmaking. It carries away all constituents of the wood except the cellulose: wood sugars, alcohol, pitch and lignin. Since these are in true chemical solution, they cannot be removed by filtering or other mechanical means, and the volume of the liquor is so large that evaporation or similar disposal is impractical.

The chief harm of the liquor lies in its high affinity for oxygen. Dumped into a stream, it often exhausts all oxygen dissolved in the water, making it impossible for fish to live, or for sewage and other wastes to be oxidized.

Co-op Association Elects Directors

Edward J. Johnson, Perkins, Harry Sederquist, Daggett, and Semer Thorsen, Stonington, were elected directors of the Alger-Delta Cooperative Electric association at the annual meeting of the organization held yesterday at the Coliseum.

The morning session opened at 10 o'clock and included reports by President Edward J. Johnson, Perkins; Secretary Elmer Peterson, Perkins, and Treasurer Paul Seppanen, Rock.

Following a noon luncheon, the election of directors was held, which was followed by an address, Agriculture and the War, by E. A. Wenner, Delta county agricultural agent, and a talk on taxation given by Attorney C. E. Lewis of Escanaba. The afternoon session concluded with the annual manager's report, given by Wynand Newenkamp of Gladstone.

ESCAPED PRISONER CAUGHT

Iron River—The escape of Edward J. Lakotich, 19, from the Iron county jail was shortlived last night. A state trooper on vacation, riding along US-2 in Wisconsin just south of the Brule bridge, picked him up when he tried to hitch a ride.

The trooper saw the officers searching along the highway and asked what was up. Sheriff Emery King of Iron county and officers with him explained and devised a plan. The trooper was in plain clothes and driving an old car with only one headlight.

Officers knew their quarry would soon try to hitch a ride. They told the trooper to drive along the road slowly and watch for a possible hitch hiker. It worked. Lakotich was in custody by 10:15 p. m. after breaking jail shortly after 5 p. m.

Lakotich and Joseph H. Russell, 18, charged with gas station thefts, were arrested Saturday. Last night they rushed Joshua Hoikka, jailer, when he was taking out the dinner pails. One of them used a two-foot length of chain taken from one of the bunks for a weapon.

Lakotich made his getaway but Hoikka managed to keep Russell in custody. Hoikka was bruised on the forearm by the chain as he warded off one of the blows. He was not badly hurt.

PRINTERS HOLD MEETING

Iron Mountain — Because the OPA is now considering ceiling prices for the printing and publishing fields, some 26 members of the Five County Club of Printing House Craftsmen, meeting last night at Wausaukee, were urged by George L. Best, of this city, first-vice-president, to watch the procedure carefully, for the protection of their interests.

"The printing industry in peace time," Best said, "is a major industry occupying fourth place in the nation. Wages paid to its employes are among the highest in any branch of business.

"Today the OPA is considering ceiling prices for the printing and publishing fields, to be incorporated with the general maximum price regulations, issued a short time ago. This will affect every printer, large or small, through the nation. If we, as printers, are to protect our business, we must watch closely what the government is planning for us."

H. A. Lindsay, new owner of the Cloverland Paper company, at Escanaba, was an out-of-town guest.

Leo Pesch, of Peshtigo, and William Winther and William Cochrane, of Marinette, were named by Leo Giroux, president, to plan the club bulletin for the remainder of the year.

SEEKS ENGINEER'S POST

Menominee — Placed on file Monday night by the Menominee city council was an application by Leo T. Kreuz, Menominee native, to fill the post of city engineer while Capt. James I. Corbett is on leave with the army engineering corps. Kreuz, 32, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kreuz, well known Menominee residents.

Kreuz advised the council that he was a graduate of Menominee high school and also has a degree in civil engineering from Marquette university in Milwaukee where he was graduated in 1933. Since then he has been employed by the Wisconsin state highway department, the Michigan state highway department and has worked as WPA engineer at Marquette. He is married and is the father of one son.

St. Louis Cards Pin Giants, 3 to 0

New York, June 17. (AP)—Big Mort Cooper held the New York Giants hitless for six innings today and even though he was touched for five in the closing frames he had little trouble steering the St. Louis Cardinals to their seventh straight triumph by a 3 to 0 count.

This was Cooper's second shutout over the Giants and his fourth in the National league this season, during which he has won eight games and lost three.

George Kurowski gave him a working margin with a homer off Lefty Cliff Melton in the second and the Redbirds added their two other runs in the eighth on four singles.

Score by innings:
St. Louis ---- 010 000 020—3 9 1
New York --- 000 000 000—0 5 2

M. Cooper and W. Cooper; Melton, Adams 9 and Danning.

Port Huron Man Gets Pardon For 9-Year-Old Case

Lansing, June 17 (AP)—John Ross McRae, respected Port Huron businessman, received a pardon from Governor Van Wagoner for an offense committed nine years ago. The governor said the pardon was issude to save McRae from being deported to Canada, because he is not a citizen of the United States.

The governor said McRae in 1933 pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge involving the misapplication of $46 from an insurance company which employed him, but that he made restitution, was admited to probation, and has led an exemplary life since. Nevertheless, the offense came to light recently and made him subject to deportation.
